"In every work that he began he did it with all his heart—and prospered."

COUNTY Agent A. L. Edmiaston left Monday with a group of sons of Lamar county farmers and a little later the home demonstration agent, Miss Llda Cooper, will take a group of farm club girls to the big state fair at Dallas.

These fine youngsters have excelled in club work and will have the advantages offered through training and first-hand information at the state fair. Before most of us can realize it these boys and girls will be men and women and will be helping to shape the future destiny of agriculture and rural life.

They will be better equipped than were the boys and girls of twenty or thirty years ago. More than likely they will make substantial contributions to progress and far better times. A challenging task lies out before them. They deserve every ounce of encouragement we can give them.

THE fourth annual Hallowe'en carnival, sponsored by the Parent-Teachers associations of Paris is to be held on the afternoon and night of October 31, at the fair grounds. Committees have already started work on the unique affair with the hope that all past attendance records may be broken.

Not alone from the fact that the enterprise is for a worthy cause, but on its merits as an enjoyable occasion affording the people pleasant pastime at practically no cost, the Parent-Teachers organization is entitled to support from the citizens.

How monotonous life would be if not for the change in seasons, in forms of entertainment and diversions. Without making an extra effort we can find enough things of a serious nature to occupy our minds. It is good now and then to turn our minds to Hallowe'en celebrations and similar events.

MONDAY morning of this week sixty-five additional schools opened in Lamar county, making a total of eighty-six up to that time. This, within itself is not unusual, but the fact that the schools of the county operate on a uniform plan of not only the date for opening but on the courses to be studied, is regarded by many as a forward step for the schools.

Time was when the schools opened at any time each particular school decided upon, but now all schools with terms of equal length open at the same time. The eighty-six now open includes practically all the schools in the county except those having six months terms.

Our Lamar county schools have made excellent progress in many respects during the past few years and indications are that this progress will continue and grow even better with the passing of the years.

MANY industrious persons, although unable to secure employment, looked ahead by preparing fall gardens and as a result are now enjoying an income from the sale of products of these gardens. Home-grown garden truck usually finds a ready market, especially for the hustling grower who does not sit at home expecting buyers to look him up.

LAST week, among other new citizens, two new business men took up their residence in Paris and will move their families here to make their homes. "I certainly like the way Paris people treat new comers," one of them said and the other remarked, "I am already beginning to feel at home." Some folks have never known what it is to be a stranger in a newly chosen home-city, but those who have know how to appreciate fully the cordiality of Paris citizens.

Validity Test of Dam Suit Allowed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (AP)—The state of Arizoaa was victor Monday in its effort to test the validity of the act authorizing construction of Hoover dam but loser in its request that funds for the initial work be held up.

Permission to bring suit on the validity of the congressional act and the Colorado river compact was granted by the supreme court. Comptroller General McCall, however, refused to withhold approval of the use of funds for the construction.

Secretary Wilbur, in announcing the comptroller's decision, said construction would proceed with all possible expedition.

BRITISH AVIATRIX SEEKS SET NEW WOMAN'S RECORD

FANNIN COUNTY CLERK DIES IN BLAZING AUTO

Tragedy Occurs on Highway East of Ladonia Near Noon Monday

THINK GASOLINE TANK EXPLODED

Body, Burned Beyond Recognition, Identified by Watch, Key, Ring

Special to the News

LADONIA, Oct. 13.—F. C. Priestley, 48, county clerk of Fannin county, was found burned to death in his automobile, on the highway about two miles east of Ladonia Monday morning about 11:30 o'clock. The body was burned beyond recognition, being identified by a watch and a key ring.

The presumption is that Mr. Priestley's car was enveloped in flames when the gasoline tank exploded, burning him before he could get out. He was a cripple. He was driving a closed car. One of the tires on his sedan was flat and one theory advanced was that he had turned back to Ladonia to have the tire fixed when the accident occurred.

Mr. Priestley had driven from Bonham earlier Monday morning, accompanied by his wafe. When the accident occurred he was enroute to visit some friends near Ladonia.

Born and reared in Ladonia Mr. Priestley had made his home here until four years ago, at which time he was elected county clerk. Since then he had made his home in Bonham. He was defeated for re-election for a third term by a small majority in the last election. He was well known in Ladonia and throughout Fannin county.

He is survived by his wife and two sons, James, 18, and F. C. Jr., 12. No funeral arrangements had been made Monday night.

MORRIS SHEPERD IS PARIS VISITOR

United States Senator Was In City Monday Afternoon Several Hours

Gratification over the progress made by the local office of the Cction Co-Operative Association was expressed Monday afternoon by United States Senator Morris Shepperd, who spent several hours in Paris Monday. Senator Sheppard expressed the opinion that the Cotton Co-Operative Association had been instrumental in preventing further decline in cotton prices.

The Senator's trip to Paris was entirely unofficial he said. He came on a visit to a life long friend—Capt. L. J. Bankhead, one of Paris' pioneer citizens.

Eenator Sheppard but recently returned from Washington where he had been on business connected with the Federal Farm Relief Committee, which had developed, he declared, valuable information which would be of benefit to agriculture. Arrangements were made by the committee to provide relief funds for farmers in certain sections of the country where the drouth hit hardest and crop failures have been most complete. These funds will be made available either from agencies appointed through the intermediate credit banks or through committees named by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Senator Sheppard arrived in Paris from Texarkana at 1:40 Monday afternoon and returned at 5:30.

New York Grand Jury To Probe Judge Appointment

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—An extraordinary grand jury, convened on order of Governor Roosevelt to investigate charges of judicial office buying in Manhattan will renew the latest phase of its inquiry Tuesday.

The jury, which has indicted former Magistrate George F. Ewald, wife and two others on charges Ewald paid for his appointment to the bench, now is examining circumstances surrounding appointment of General Sessions Judge Amadeo A. Bertini.

When it meets Tuesday, several employes of various banks are expected to be called to testify regarding bank accounts of Bertini and Charles L. Kohler, director of the budget and Tammany leader of the tenth district.

The special grand jury's investigation is one of two now in progress into the city's judiciary. The other is a general inquiry into magistrate's courts in Manhattan and the Bronx, ordered by the appellate division of the supreme court.

Both are the climax of a series of judicial investigations which began a year ago with Federal Judge Winslow's resignation in the face of a congressional investigation into his administration of the bankruptcy laws.

Jack 'Legs' Diamond is Far From Dead as 2 Assailants Elude New York Officials

NEW YORK, Oct. 13, (AP)—The murky pattern of a racketeer's progress in the metropolitan underworld was examined minutely by police Monday in search of an explanation for the shooting of Jack "Legs" Diamond, notorious gang leader.

A red-haired chorus girl friend of the wounded gangster, a few employes of the West Side hotel where two gunmen pumped five bullets into Diamond's body Sunday, and a host of rumors comprised the "catch" in New York's most sensational shooting since Arnold Rothstein, "gambler," was slain two years ago.

Progress—or lack of it—was summed up by Police Commissioner Mulrooney Monday night in the terse statement that "there are 101 reasons why somebody wanted Diamond dead."

But "Legs" was still far from dead. Physicians at the Polyclinic hospital said his vitality was altering the odds against him, although he still was a very seriously wounded man. "Legs" scanned with satisfaction the four-inch headlines that heralded his plight, but insisted he did not know the members of the "execution squad" who called on him.

Police scouted Diamond's sincerity and were equally skeptical about the story they elicited from Marion Roberts, chorus girl who entertained Diamond just before the shooting, in her room in the Hotel Monticello. It adjoined the room where he was attacked. Marion, held as a material witness, told police her real name was Marion Strasnick and her home was in Boston.

She said Diamond was breakfasting with her Sunday forenoon when the clerk telephoned that "two guys were coming up." While she was in her bath, Diamond went to his room with the visitors, she said, and she proceeded to take a nap, oblivious of the shooting until much later in the day.

Diamond set the number of his assailants at three, but police were convinced there were only two.

3691 STUDENTS IN PARIS SCHOOLS AT END FIRST MONTH

Enrollment Shows Slight Increase Over Same Time Last Year

Enrollment totals 3691 in the city schools of Paris at the commencement of the second month of the school term, in comparison with 3577 on the same date last year, according to figures announced Monday by J. G. Wooten, city superintendent of schools.

The six ward schools show an increase of 60 pupils over last year, four of them having almost identically the same enrollment as last year, and Third ward and West Paris having a much larger number. The high school has seven less than last year.

Gibbons colored school shows a large increase over last year, making 70 more students enrolled in all three schools for negroes here, than last year.

These are the comparative figures for this year and last as compiled by Prof. Wooten:

NEGRO POPULACE OF MISSOURI TOWN PRACTICALLY GONE

STE. GENEVIEVE, Mo., Oct. 13, (AP)—More than 100 negroes, practically the entire negro population, had left town Monday night following the confession of three negroes, two men and a woman, to the murder of Harry Panchot and wounding of Paul A. Ritter, both white, Sunday.

The only two negro families left here were guarded Monday night by militia called out by Governor Henry S. Caulfield, at the request of Sheriff Ziegler, to prevent mob action, which he said threatened for a time last night and Monday.

COURT REFUSES RULE LEGALITY OF JONES LAW

Supreme Tribunal Gives No Reason; May Again Pass on Matter

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—An attack on the constitutionality of the Jones law under which a violator of the Volstead act can be sent to prison for five years and fined $10,000 failed Monday before the supreme court.

The suit came from Missouri. Two St. Joseph residents, Hugh McElvogue and William J. Brown, challenged the statute under which McElvogue was sentenced to the penitentiary for a year and Brown for four years.

As is customary, the court in refusing to pass on the constitutionality of the drastic dry law gave no explanation. The question of the constitutionality of the Jones act was not raised, however in the United States district court where the cases were first tried.

The challenge to the statute was made on appeal to the eighth circuit court of appeals. Those familiar with supreme court procedure pointed out that in such circumstances the tribunal generally decides that a question of constitutionality has not been properly presented.

Would Restore Confidence In Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 13, (AP)—Resolutions to restore confidence in the cotton market despite the present low market price were adopted here Monday night in a meeting of cotton trade leaders called by the American Cotton Shippers association after E. F. Creekmore, general manager of the American Cotton Cooperative association, had announced that the cooperative organization intends to use the cotton futures markets for hedging purposes for the protection of the price and basis of its cotton.

The platform adopted asked the spinners to anticipate their future requirements for this year and next, the bankers to lend money to the producers contingent upon a substantial reduction in acreage, and advised the farmer to harvest his crop, hold for better prices and reduce his acreage.

Berlin Rioting Breaks Anew

BERLIN, Oct. 14 (Tuesday) (AP)—Rioting by rowdy elements in the heart of Berlin's fashionable shopping district broke out early this morning while crowds of curiosity seekers returning from theaters lingered in the vicinity of the Potsdamerplatz to see the destruction wrought by fascists bands Monday.

The rowdies saw an opportunity to start window-smashing all over again and perhaps to profit by pillaging.

EAGLE FORD TRAIN WRECK FATAL TO 1, WILL BE PROBED

DALLAS, Oct. 13, (AP)—While crowds of spectators watched, wreckage of a Texas and Pacific passenger train at Eagle Ford was cleared up Monday. So large were the throngs that Sheriff Hal Hood and several deputies were summoned to prevent interference with workmen.

General Manager H. D. Earl said cause of the derailment was unknown, but an investigation was under way.

The body of Fireman R. A. Short of Big Spring, killed when caught beneath the engine, was sent to Cisco for burial.

GAS COMPANY TO HAVE HEARING AT COUNCIL MEETING

Street Maintenance Bond Will Be Insisted Upon, Mayor Declares

DEPOSIT AGAIN TALKED MONDAY

Local Utility Has Lost Only $2600 In Bad Accounts, Says Mayor

Mayor J. M. Crook informed the city council Monday night that he had agreed with C. L. May of the Texas Cities Gas company to give him a hearing before the council next Monday night in the matter of improperly replacing the excavations in the streets and the deposit required of consumers which the council has expressed itself as considering unreasonable. He said Mr. May could not be here at last night's meeting and had asked for the later date.

The Mayor said he would ask the council to insist on a maintenance bond for the streets. When the streets were built, he said, the contractors gave the city a maintenance bond and he believed the gas company should do the same.

The Mayor reported to the council that a Paris woman had called on him and stated that she had a gas bill of $1.38, which fell due while she was in Mineral Wells, and that when she returned home her meter had been removed and she had to pay a deposit of $10 to be reconnected. The mayor stated that he presented this to Mr. May, and the latter asked that he go with him to the company office to investigate. He did so, and Mr. May asked the clerk if the circumstance was as the mayor had told him. She replied that it was, and

Flood Waters Invade Brady For Third Time in Week And Retreat

TEXAS TOWN INUNDATED

The Brady river has been on the rampage again, for the third time in a week. Photo is the first time, when about 200 persons were left homeless and property damage mounted to $350,000. Twice the river rose and flooded the city Monday, and retreated. But little damage was done as merchants had prepared makeshift levees with sand and cement.

Flood Waters Monday Fail to Do as Much Damage as Recently

OTHER STREAMS GO ON RAMPAGE

Improvised Levees, Sacks of Cement and Sand Help Hold Water

BRADY, Oct. 14, (AP)—For the second time during the day and the third time in a week, flood waters from the Brady river invaded and retreated from the city square here Monday night.

Early in the day the river left its banks and flowed into the plaza, where merchants had erected barracades of cement, sand and cotton to keep the water from their stores. During the afternoon it receded.

The river went on another rampage as evening fell and soon reached a depth of 16 inches on the north side of the plaza, or courthouse square. At 9 p. m. it again was receding.

Reports were that 400 feet of track and dump on the Santa Fe railroad between Brady and Whiteland had been washed out. The washout occurred during the morning on the first rise of the river, and after the fall workmen began repairs only to be interrupted by the second rise.

At Melvin, 18 miles west of Brady on the north fork of the river, and at Eden, 35 miles west on the south fork, it was raining but the river was falling.

From 100 to 150 persons were driven from their homes during the day, but, because of ample warning, most took bedding and provisions with them when they fled The Red Cross furnished food for more than 40 and beds were prepared in a church tabernacle.

Little additional damage was feared because of extensive preparations to turn aside the water. In a flood last week more than $300,000 damage was caused.

DALLAS, Oct. 13, (AP)—Fed by heavy rains which poured off already water-soaked lands, Texas streams went on another rampage Monday spreading their waters beyond their banks for the second time in a week.

Brady, a town of 5,000 population in McCullough county, again bore the brunt of the discomfort and damage of floodwaters when the Brady river again overflowed, flooding 45 business houses and coming within two or three feet of last Monday's high water mark, when $350,000 damage to stocks of 60 business houses was done and 200 persons were made homeless.

Aroused from their slumber by an alarm sent down the stream from Eden, where a torrential rain sent the river, which has its headwaters in Concho county near that point, on another rise, residents of Brady went from their beds before dawn to build improvised levees of cement and sandbags in an effort to ward off the second inundation in eight days.

After rising within two feet of the courthouse plaza, which was submerged last Monday, the waters

Morrow Opens His Campaign

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 13, (AP)—Dwight W. Morrow, opening his campaign for election to the United States senate on the Republican ticket, reiterated Monday night his advocacy of repeal of the eighteenth amendment and eliminated himself as a candidate for the presidency in 1932.

"I look forward with pleasure and confidence to the opportunity of voting two years from now for the renomination and re-election of Herbert Hoover," he said.

Oklahoma Pardon Board Failed to Pass Clemency To Any of 50 Who Ask

McALESTER, Okla., Oct. 13, (AP)—Fifty applications for pardon or parole had been passed on with not a single recommendation of clemency by the state pardon and parole board during the morning session held at the state prison Monday. All cases were repeaters and records were scrutinized close-

Troop Movements Dot Brazilian Revolt Areas But No Decisive Conflict Fought

By the Associated Press

The Brazilian civil war in most quarters had dragged out into a chess game of troop movements that has yet to produce a decisive conflict.

In the railway campaign, the rebels announced the capture of the important seaport of Florianopolis Santa Catharina, hitherto used by the federals as a basis for small operations against the insurgents in the state.

The rebels say its capture permits them to consolidate their forces for a drive toward Sao Paulo in the north.

The federals claimed continued gains in Minas Geraes, and reported the capture of a band of revolutionary plotters concealed in Rio de Janeiro for the purpose of attempting an uprising if the rebel troops drew near.

Both sides have issued conflicting claims of successes. The federals asserted that the revolutionary ardor is waning and that the rebels relied on a quick success.

Heavy federal troop movements are reported in Sao Paulo state, where a battle has been predicted for several days. The rebels are concentrating on the state's southern border, but according the federals have been delayed by slow transportation.

Airplanes are likely to have an important bearing on future military movements. The federal government has announced the purchase of ten bombing planes in the United States.

Federals Reported As Routed From Stronghold

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 13, (AP)—News coming through Uruguayan sources Monday indicated the Brazilian rebels had routed the federals from their last stronghold in southern Brazil by capturing the city of Florianopolis.

That important trading center in the state of Santa Catharina has been virtually the only place in Brazil south of Sao Paulo that the government has held since the revolt began nine days ago. While rebel troops marched from the extreme south of the country, state of Rio Grande Do Sul, and went northward through Santa Catharian toward Sao Paulo, the federals held on to the coastal city and used it as a base for small operations against the revolutionaries.

Capture of the city—if confirmed—means the rebels can consolidate their lines from the southernmost part of the republic to the Parana-Sao Paulo border region, where the rebels already have engaged the troops of President Washington Luis Pereira Da Souza in an effort to reach Sao Paulo.

Rebel sources claim continued advances against the government, although their announcements are disputed. Geeral Miguel Costa, insurgent commander on the Sao Paulo-Parana front, reported he had crossed the Sao Paulo border and captured the towns of Ourinhos, Singues and Punto Ribeira,

Big Territory Makes Brazil Revolt Unique

Communication and Travel Are Difficult

By Charles P. Stewart
Central Press Staff Writr

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—If Brazil really is having a federal revolution (as distinguished from a few revolutions of merely statewide importance) it will not be the rapid fire sort of an affair that Argentina experienced recently, Peru a short time previously, several other Latin American republics not long ago or that dispatches from points like Buenos Aires and Montevideo may be interpreted as indicating for Brazil likewise.

Of Argentina's inhabitants about 25 per cent live in Buenos Aires (the capital) itself. Fully 90 per cent live in a 250,000 square mile area includng and surrounding it.

The populations of most of the South American countries are similarly concentrated.

They have large "hinterlands," they are thinly settled.

In communities of this type revolutions can be expedited.

Revolt Plotters In Capital Are Caught

RIO DI JANEIRO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Capture of a group of revolutionary plotters hiding in the federal capital in the hope of leading an uprising against the government when revolutionary troops should have approached the city, was announced Monday by the federal authorities.

Among the leaders arrested were Jose Bonifacio and Alranio de Mello.

A heavy movement of troops toward the front continued and in Sao Paulo, soldiers, police and volunteers going forward in trainloads and truckloads.

The government announced its soldiers were advancing on the fronts in Sao Paulo and Minas Geraes, and denied all reports of rebel successes in the southern states.

It was said the rebels in Rio Grande do Sul had been unable to move any considerable number of troops across the border of Santa Catharina owing to slow transportation.

The federals claimed rebel troop trains were obliged to run only at night in order to escape bombing by federal airplanes.

Despite claims of successes, the government asserts, the rebels have done nothing important during the past two days. The country north of Santa Maria de Bocco do Monte

Work of Finishing Highway 39 May Start Soon; Get More Right-of-Way

Additional right-of-way for Highway 39 from Arthur City to Red River has been secured, according to an announcement by County Judge J. M. Braswell on Monday morning. The right-of-way between Arthur City and the river is now too narrow to be accepted by the Highway Department, and has held up further improvement of the highway from Trout spur to Arthur City, where a new route has been made. Work on the remainder of the highway is expected to begin within a short time.

J. D. Metcalfe, district engineer of the highway department, said Monday night that when the work begins, local labor will be used.

The total cost of finishing the work to the river is estimated at $20,000. However, this includes the cost of the gravel and the asphalt for topping the new road. The labor cost is estimated at approximately $3,500. The work of widening the right of way between Arthur City and the river will begin within a short time, and spreading of gravel on that section of the highway between Trout Spur and Arthur City will begin at the same time.

The new route for the highway eliminates two railroad crossings between Paris and Red River. It is also thought that securing the additional right of way will hasten the elimination of the dangerous one-way bridges across Pine Creek.

Mr. Metcalfe said some time ago that the work of widening the right-of-way from Arthur City to the river and graveling the new road from Trout Spur to Arthur City would begin immediately after the additional right-of-way was secured. He is of the opinion that the work can be done within three weeks, with favorable weather.

Although the matter of securing the additional right-of-way has been under consideration for several months, nothing definite was accomplished until a few days ago, when the Commissioner's court made the property owners an offer which was accepted on Monday morning.

DELTA GARDEN, PANTRY REPORT

Home Agent Gives Details of Her Work With Womens Clubs

Special to The News

COOPER, Oct. 13.—Miss Laura Morgan, home demonstration agent of Delta county, has completed her report on garden and pantry contests.

There were six demonstrators in horticulture, Mmes. H. F. Hale, Ben Franklin; C. A. Redding and A. C. Voyles, Enloe; Ada Donaldson and O. Jeter, Lake Creek; and Jim Bond, Price.

Mrs. H. F. Hale had 1-5 acre in garden, which cost $6.65 for seed and labor. She canned 51 quarts of vegetables; used 135 1-2 pounds of fresh vegetables on her table from April 4 to Sept. 8. She grew 27 varieties, and estimates her profit at $50.65.

Mrs. C. A. Redding reports 1-10 acre in garden for a family of two at a cost of $10.50. Canned 238 quarts, used 350 pounds fresh vegetables. Profit $127. She planted 15 varieties.

Mrs. A. C. Voyles reports 513 quarts canned for family of five. Size of garden 1-3 acre. Planted 18 varieties. Cost of garden $5.35, total value of garden $137.15.

Mrs. Ada Donaldson, reports 23 varieties in spring garden, and eight varieties in summer garden. Uused 1,446 pounds fresh vegetables, canned 113 quarts garden cost $9. Total profit $150.65.

Mrs. O. Jeter's garden was 1-2 acre from which she canned 251 quarts, total cost of garden $8.25, profit was $147.85.

Mrs. Jim Bond reports 16 varieties planted. Canned 229 quarts at a profit of $142.90.

Miss Morgan's report on 4-H pantry work gives this information: nine women canned 3,256 quarts of vegetables, pickles, and relishes and fruits for 32 people, according to rules of adequate diet. Two pantries were built, eight pantries were worked on and 18 menu recipe files and menus were made. Value of canned products $1,602.40.

There were 27 cooperative demonstrators who did as much as half of the required amount, having canned 3,050 quarts, valued at $1,525.

The demonstrators reports: Mrs. Voyles, family of 5, canned 513 quarts, valued at $265; Mrs. C. A. Redding, family of 2, canned 238 quarts, valued at $119; Mrs. Jeter, family of 5, canned 231 quarts, valued at $106; Mrs. W. Sheppard, family of 4, canned 334 quarts, valued at $207; Mrs. Harcrow, family of 5, canned 545 quarts valued at $272; Miss Edyth Mullican, family of 3, canned 325 quarts, valued at $197.50; Mrs. Ed Price, family of 4, canned 442 quarts valued at $232.50; Mrs. Dotson, family of 2, canned 252 quarts valued at $142.20; Mrs. Outs, family of 4, canned 376 quarts, valued at $188; total quarts 6,306, valued at $3,127.40.

Miss Morgan is doing a splendid work in Delta county. The thing she is trying to do is get the women to plant sufficient garden for their family and can all surplus. That will help to solve Delta county's problem of "hard times."

BRIEFS
About Town

Misses Johnnie and Grace Tollett, graduates of St. Joseph's infirmary training school for nurses, left Saturday for a two weeks' visit with their sister in Dallas, before going to San Antonio to live.

Mrs. Fern D. Bernard, representing the Veterans' Bureau at Dallas, has returned to that city after spending several days here working on cases in this area.

John Edward Boyce employed at the Coca Cola Bottling plant in this city, underwent an operation for appendicitis Sunday morning, and is reported doing nicely.

Frank Fuller, Jr., 10, is now qualified as a fullfledged hunter. Out with his father and Hugh Campbell squirrel hunting Saturday young Frank killed his first squirrel, using a 22-calibre target rifle.

The topping is now being placed on the various ditches that have been dug by the Texas Cities Gas Co., and the work is expected to be completed within the next ten days.

Rev. F. F. Herndon and wife left Sunday night for Washington, D. C., where they go to attend the International Convention of Christian churches. The convention opens October 15, and will continue for ten days.

The handsome home of S. V. Alford that is being built in Stellrose addition, is nearing completion. It will be one of the prettiest homes in that part of the city.

Rev. J. Leslie Linnell spent a part of Sunday in Paris with friends. He was formerly pastor of the First Christian church in this city, but is now pastor of the Magnolia Christian church, Fort Worth. Mr. and Mrs. Fennell were on their way to Washington to attend the International Convention of Christian churches.

W. C. Francis, Jr., playing at Springlake Sunay, shot the nine hole course in 34, on estroke below par. Young Francis seems estined to become a golfing star.

Louis Steinlein, who has been a traveling salesman for the past thirty-five years, was in the city Monay. Mr. Steinlein's home is in Clarksville, where he is in the dry goods business.

A Ford sedan, containing five negroes en route from Greenville o Paris to attend a colored K. of P. meeting, turned turtle on Highway 39 Sunday. The car turned over and was wrecked, but the occupants escaped unhurt.

The Paris Exchange club meets Tuesday at the uual hour, and will take steps to arouse more interest in getting broken toys to be turned over to the fire department members to be fived up for Christmas. So far there has been very little response to the call for toys.

Blue Gabbert, who has been living on North Main street for the last year, has moved to his farm near Petty, where he will reside in future.

Wayne Williams, who underwent an appendicitis operation at the Sanitarium some three weeks ago, is reported not doing so well, having suffered a slight relapse.

Tom J. Snell, who was operated o nat the Sanitarium some weeks ago, is making a rapid recovery and will be discharged this week.

Red river, which has been on a slight rise, was reported as slowly falling Sunday and Monday.

W. E. Ellis, Justice of the peace of Precinct 8 and W. H. Hall, constable of the same precinct, leave Tuesday for Dallas. They are combining business with pleasure on the trip, as they have some investigations to be conducted in Dallas.

"No horseshoe turns in the fire lines," says W. E. Short, chief of police. This is just a reminder to those who get in a hurry to turn around.

There were five arrests Saturday night and Sunday by the police, breaking a week of quiet. There were two arrests for traffic violations, two for speeding and one for drunk.

Several of the members of the Paris Gun clug will go to Hugo Wednesday to take part in the individual shoot that is to be held there on that date. There is a total of $30 cash prizes offered, which, with the added money, will make some nice purses. There are also a large number of merchandise prizes offered.

CROPS IMPROVED BY MILD SHOWERS

Yield in Texas Helped as of Oct. 1 By Rains of September

Special to The News

AUSTIN, Oct. 13.—Texas crops were improving as to yield Oct. 1, as a result of mild September showers, according to the monthly estimate issued by the U. S. crop reporting bureau for Texas. The report did not take into consideration the general rains of early October.

Cotton improved one point to 54 per cent normal, with a prospective yield of 4,275,000 bales, the report said.

Corn picked up from 59 to 62 per cent normal and promises to return $88,128,000 bushels from this year's planting, averaging 18 bushels in Texas. A national crop of 2,946,716,000 bushels was forecast.

Grain sorghums improve one per cent to a 47 per cent factor and promises a Texas yield of 37,674,000 bushels.

Rice stood at 86 per cent of normal crop, with promised a total state yield of 8,200,000 out of the national crop of 38,564,000 bushels.

Tame hay had produced about 8,200,000 tons and alfalfa about 147,000 tons.

Peanuts had picked up from 80 to 84 per cent, on the estimated yield of 76,360,000 pounds.

Sorghum and sugar cane were reported in gallons of syrup prospective from the crops of 2,240,000 and 1,400,000.

A 6,750,000-bushel sweet potato crop was in sight. The report estimated the pear crop at 325,000 bushels; apples at 149,000 bushels, and grapes at 1,100 tons. The national grape yield wa estimated at 3,500,000 tons.

Condition of the pecan crop averaged about 32 per cent normal as compared with 40 per cent last year. A state crop of about 8,700,000 pounds was forecast.

October rains were "of untold benefit to stockmen and grain farmers," the report said.

NEW AGENT FOR CITIES SERVICE

P. V. Collier Has Long Experience in Oil Business

P. V. Collier, late of Honey Grove, but formerly in the oil production business in California, has been named agent for the Cities Service Oil company, in the Paris territory and has assumed charge of the business here.

Mr. Collier comes to Paris direct from Honey Grove and in a short time will move his family here to make their permanent home. For 12 years he was in the production end of the oil business in California, but has had experience in all branches of the industry.

"I am coming to Paris to make my home and from the reception already received I feel sure we will be happy here," he said. His company, the Cities Service, has been established in this territory for a number of years and Mr. Collier states that an expansion program in the territory will be carried out.

Bride of Christ Is Sermon Topic

At the First Baptist church Sunday morning Dr. W. M. Wright had for his subject, "The Bride of Christ", based on Ephesians 5: "Wives submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord. For the husband is the head of the wife even as christ is the head of the church: and he is the Saviour of the body," and also Revelations 21:1-2: "And I, John, saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride for her husband".

"We must first find out what the church is," Dr. Wright said in part, "and I think this is the best definition that every one can remember. A body of baptized believers uniting together in the belief of the things that Christ has taught and covenanting together to do the things that Christ has commanded.

"I know of no more beautiful comparison between Christ and the church than when he compares his relation with that of a husband and wife. God provides the need for his bride, both spiritual and earthly, he protects her against everything of the world, and he keeps her in his love that is an undivided love. In turn God expects his bride to be true and loyal to him, to love him with an undivided love.

At the evening hour, Dr. Wright took for his subject, "Broken Hearts Healed".

"We find several different reasons for breaking hearts—the separation from loved ones, ill health, poverty, business reverses and numerous others, but there is only one remedy and that is the power of God. If your heart is heavy tonight, why don't you let Christ have charge of your life and let him bear the troubles and burdens that are so heavy to you?"

Lesson Sermon at Scientist Church

The lesson-sermon subject in all Churches of Christ, Scientist Sunday, was "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?"

The Golden text was from Psalms 37:27, "Depart from evil,

Man Jumps from Bed, Feels Gas on Heart

"Stomach gas pressed so hard on my heart I had to get up nights. I began using Adlerika and have been entirely relieved."—R. F. Krueger.

Adlerika relieves GAS and sour stomach in TEN minutes! Acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, moving old poisons you never knew were there. Don't take medicine which cleans only PART of bowels, but let Adlerika give stomach and bowels a REAL cleaning and see how good you feel!—Palace Drug Store.—Adv.

SO DIZZY, HAD TO LIE DOWN

Oklahoma Lady Says She Obtained Relief by Taking Black-Draught.

Tahlequah, Okla.—"We have used Thedford's Black-Draught in our family ever since I can remember," says Mrs. M. C. Weatherford, of 117 Ross Street, this city. "My mother gave it to us children. Whenever we got sick or out of order, she gave us a few doses of it to straighten us out.

"For years I have kept Thedford's Black-Draught in my home. I find it the best medicine for sick headache and biliousness I have ever tried.

"Sometimes I have spells when everything seems dark before my eyes and I feel dizzy. I have to lie down or I would fall. When I feel such an attack coming on, I take Black-Draught and make a tea out of it, which I take in small doses for several days. The dizziness quickly passes off after I take Black-Draught, and I feel fine.

"I gave my little grandchild Black-Draught not long ago. She was bilious and this made her drowsy and languid. I made a tea of the Black-Draught and gave it to her, and very soon she was up, playing around the house." BA-174

Anniversary

GUY S. CALDWELL

Guy S. Caldwell begins today his thirtieth year in the jewelry business in this city, having arrived in Paris, October 13, 1901. He celebrated yesterday by announcing a 13 per cent reduction on the sale price of his merchandise. He declares that he has always considered 13 a lucky number as that is his real birthday as well as the date of his arrival in Paris. The street number of his first store was 13 and because of the fact that through the years his store has prospered and has been known as one of the most attractive jewelry stores in the country he believes that number 13 is lucky, hence the announcement of this unusual method of clebrating his anniversary.

During the last 20 years Mr. Caldwell has been active in civic affairs and has given much of his time and effort in promoting movements for the benefit of Paris and Lamar county.

and do good, and dwell forevermore."

The following passage from the Bible was included in the service (James 5:15): "The prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins, they shall be forgiven him."

The following citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, were also read: "The prayer of faith shall save the sick," says the Scripture. What is this healing prayer? . . . The highest prayer is not one of faith merely; it is demonstration. Such prayer heals sickness, and must destroy sin and death . . . Only as we rise above all material sensuousness and sin, can we reach the heaven born aspiration and spiritual consciousness, which is indicated in the Lord's prayer and which instantaneously heals the sick . . . Sickness, sin, and death, being inharmonious, do not originate in God nor belong to His government."

Misses Frances McClure and Mary Ann Underwood and Travis Hale went home to Bogata for the week end.

ALARM SYSTEM FOILS BURGLARS

Siren and Tear Gas Provide Hearty Welcome for Surprised Crooks

An intricate system of burglar alarms, recently installed by the Simmons Grocery company, Sunday night frustrated a daring burglary attempt. According to J. F. Simmons, manager of the Simmons Grocery company, two men drove up on the west side of the building, one remaining in the car with the engine running and the other attempting to open the north door on the west side of the building.

The attempt set off a siren that is a part of the burglar alarm system, and released a quantity of tear gas over the building. The siren frightened the would-be burglar away, and he jumped in the car with his companion and beat a hurried retreat, heading west.

Officers arrived on the scene a few moments later, but were unable to enter the building because of the gas. Motorcycle Officer Gus Cothran hurried to his home and donned a gas mask, after which he was able to enter the building, open the doors to let the gas escape, also to connect up the various alarms over the building.

Even with a mask for protection Officer Cothran suffered a violent headache from the effects of the gas, according to his statement. Mr. Simmons said Monday that his place of business had been entered five times recently.

"I became tired of being robbed," Mr. Simmons said, "and I installed the best burglar alarm system that I could get. No man can stand the effects of the gas that is released and had the burglar Sunday night managed to get inside the building he would have been there when we opened up Monday morning.

Every door and every window in the building is connected with the siren, and with the gas, Mr. Simmons said.

UNIQUE REVOLT

tropolis having acted, the folk out in the sticks have no chance but to acquiesce in whatever has been done. They are too scattered to make any effective protest, even if there are enough of them.

Brazil, also (heaven knows) has a large "hinterland"—larger than the continental United states—but its 40,000,000 inhabitants (nearly that) are concentrated in an entirely different fashion from Argentina's Uruguay's and the ethersers'.

Instead of being bunched in one spot they are strung out in a coastal strip nearly 4,000 miles long and comparatively only a few miles wide except in a few places.

Up the Amazon and some of its principal tributaries there are interior towns, to be sure. There are farming districts adjacent to the principal ports, and the extreme southern states have been more or less developed approximately as far back from tidewater as the distance from New York to Cleveland.

However, the river settlements are not much but frontier posts and the south consists principally of cattle ranges—not even a populous agricultural region.

Illustrative of the mistaken conclusions which it is possible to draw from accounts of disorders in a country of this character—

The state of Rio do Grande Sul is spoken of as esspecially the center of revolutionary activity and the state of Para, among others, is mentioned as in sympathy with Rio Grande do Sul's government against the federal government.

The fact is that the air line distance from Para to Rio Grande do Sul is more than 2,000 miles and fully half of it is through so dense a jungle that it can be traveled at the rate of not more than five or six miles a day—a jungle not only uninhabited except by primitive Indians, but largely unexplored by white men.

The trip can be made along the coast, indeed, most of the way by automobile, but by that route the journey is 3,600 miles.

Here and there railroad transportation is available; theoretically it is possible to go by rail from Rio de Janeiro (far south of Para) the 1,200 miles, across the Brazilian-Uruguay frontier, to Montevideo—but the trains step at night, the track being so unreliable that it is unsafe to attempt to negotiate it except by daylight.

Naturally, such communication as there is, practically is all by ocean steamship.

The Para and Rio Grande do Sul populations, moreover, are totally dissimilar.

In the vicinity of the coast Para, like the rest of northern Brazil, has the negro strain even more pronouncedly than the southern United States—that is to say, there is at least as much of it and it is more widely diffused, the two races not having remained distinct, as in North America. Inland, where there are inhabitants at all, Indian blood predominates.

Rio Grande do Sul has rather fewer negroes than New England's but is Italian by a considerable plurality, with a good many Germans, mixed European nationalities and a decided infusion of Japanese in recent years.

It may be true enough that both states are dissatisfied with the Rio de Janeiro government, but there cannot be much community of interest between them.

On the one hand, there might be a revolution at the federal capital, Rio de Janeiro, which the important sub-metropolitan area of Para (also called Belem), Pernambuco (or Refica), Baha (or San Salvador (Sao Paulo and Porto Alegre, scattered along the coast (except Sao Paulo, a short distance inland) some hundreds of miles from one another, would not indorse at all.

On the other hand, Para, Pernambuco, Bahia, Sao Paulo and Porto Alegre might, either of all of them, repudiate the central government at Rio de Janeiro and the president remain as firmly entrenched there as ever—with a number of states to rebellion against him, to be sure, but unable to get at him.

Brazilian internal troubles do offer one interesting possibility—

The republic has quite a navy, which, taking one side or the other, is in a position (the cities being so almost exclusively coastal) to provide a series of bombardments of an unusually destructive character.

The Woman's auxiliary of the Church of the Holy Cross, Episcopal, at its meeting Monday afternoon at the parish house, had 12 members present, and the course of mission study for the year, based on "India on the March" and outlined by Mrs. T. M. Cox and Mrs. Walter Faught, was accepted. Mrs. O. A. Perry will lead the first lesson.

Mrs. E. B. Baker announced service for presentation of the united thank offering on St. Luke's day. The treasurer reported collection of $29.30 in pledges, and Mrs. J. T. Rountree read a letter as to the articles needed for two missionary boxes to be filled by the auxiliary.

Mrs. Faught, hostess for the afternoon, served sandwiches, and tea.

Former Paris Girl is Married at Phoenix

Announcement has been received here of the marriage of Miss Melva Hayes, formerly of Paris, to James R. McConkey, at Phoenix, Ariz., on Saturday, October 4.

The bride who made her home here until about three years ago, is a sister of Mrs. Joe Tom Hill.

ONE OF TWIN BABIES DIES; OTHER IS ILL

One of twin babies, two months old, of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ragsdale of Reno, died there after several days' illness, and was buried Monday afternoon.

The other child, a girl, suffering from the same illness, was brought here late Monday to Lamar hospital for treatment.

CHURCH MEMBERS MEET AT PASTOR'S HOME FOR DINNER

Special to The News

BLOSSOM, Oct. 13.—The Methodist parsonage entertained a piggly wiggly congregation Sunday for dinner. It has always been a Methodist custom for someone in the congregation to invite the pastor and family for dinner on Sunday, but the tables were turned on the pastor, the Rev. Arthur Lusby, when members of his congregation invited themselvs home with him. Parts of two committies decided to do this, but neither knew of the other's intentions till they arrived at the church. So there were forty in all who visited the parsonage, including from Sylvan: Mr. and and Mrs. Joe Gibson and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Rodgers and family, J. C. Blackburn and family, Mr. and Mrs. Giles Rodgers, Mrs. J. R. Hancock, and Harry Johnson and Christine Biggers; from Cavinese: Hatton Sissell and family, S. G. Cavinese and family, Joe Armstrong and family, Mrs. Mary Cothran, Edwin Cothran and family, Donald Cothran, Miss Grace Towers, Elmer Towers, Mrs. Loss Cavinese, Miss Rebecca McCaslin; from Paris: James M. Cavinese and family. All the visitors brought their dinner and spread together.

The pastor met with a group of 15 young people Sunday evening and discussed plans for organizing an Epworth League. The first business and social meeting will be at the parsonage Friday night, and the first service, at the church Sunday night.

Blanchett-King Wedding at Hugo Saturday Night

Miss Merle King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jap King, and Robert DeWitt Blanchett were married Saturday evening at Hugo, Okla., Elder Price, minister of the Church of Christ, officiating. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McCarver of Beaumont and J. L. Shermer of Paris.

They will be at home at 55 1-2 South Main Street.

The bride was born and reared in Paris, and is a graduate of Paris high school. After attending a business school here, she took a position in the office of Silver's store, where she has been employed the last two years. She is a past noble grand of Paris Rebekah lodge.

Mr. Blanchett, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Blanchett of Texarkana, and has been located here the past three years as representative of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company.

Joe Haynes Weds Miss Fern Gaylor Saturday

Joe Haynes of Paris and Miss Fern Caylor of Hugo, Okla., were married Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at Antlers, Okla., by the minister of the Presbyterian church at his home. They were accompanied by Miss Frances Thompson of Hugo.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ford Caylor of Hugo, Okla., and Mr. Haynes, son of Mrs. L. M. Haynes, is connected here with the Southland Cotton Oil company.

They are at home for the present at 43 South Thirty-sixth street.

Mrs. Alexander to Have Charge of P. J. C. Chapel

Mrs. Emma Alexander, director of the Paris Little Theatre, will have charge of the chapel program hour at Paris Junior college Tuesday morning.

This Convocation is held at the college at 10 o'clock, and the public is cordially invited.

Form Shakespeare Club for Juniors

The national junior Shakespeare Story Telling club, through the assistance of local teachers, will shortly form a branch or association here.

The club is educational in purpose and is designed to acquaint every grade school child with the wors of the famous bard and in such a way that it will appear like play to them. At the same time, it prepares them for high school studies while those who are not fortunate enough to advance beyond the grades will have a working knowledge of the classics.

The plan consists of story hours for the children when groups will meet and tell Shakespeare stories in simplified form. Clubs for each grade will be formed. Then the grade school champions will contest with those of other schools for the honors.

The grand final e will be a Shakespearean evening or pagent having the children portray Shakespearean characters.

HERNDON ATTENDS CHURCH CONCLAVE

The Rev. P. F. Herndon, minister of the First Christian church, and Mrs. Herndon left Monday for Texarkana, to join a special Texas train to Washington, D. C., to attend the national convention of the Christian church (Disciples of Christ), which opens in the capital city on Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Palmer drove the minister and his wife to Texarkana.

The Rev. J. Leslie Finnell, pastor of Magnolia Avenue Christian church, former pastor here, with his wife and small daughter, drove through Paris last week, en route to Washington for the meeting also.

The gathering will be in session about two weeks.

At Mother's Bedside

John Crowley and his sister, Mrs. C. M. Ozias, are here from California to attend the bedside of their mother, Mrs. J. C. Crowley, seriously ill at the Sanitarium of Paris.

Don't Go to Extremes To End Constipation

When bad breath, or a coated tongue, biliousness or headaches warn of constipation, don't take violent purgatives. There's no use when a candy Cascaret will stop the trouble in a jiffy; will cleanse your system pleasantly; and completely.

The relief you get so promptly from Cascarets is lasting. Cascarets are made from cascara, a substance which medical authorities agree actually strengthens the bowels muscles.

So Cascarets are a blessing to old folks with weakened bowels; to children to any one in need of establishing regular bowel habits. Ten cents a box—all drug stores. —Adv.

Three Injured In Car Wreck Near Garland

Mrs. J. T. Vinson of Paris suffered a broken leg and a severely bruised shoulder, Mrs. W. D. White of Wichita Falls had a wrist broken and was severely cut and bruised and W. D. White of Wichita Falls suffered several cuts about the head and hands, when their automobile was wrecked near Garland Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. White, accompanied by H. A. Garrison of Wichita Falls were bringing Mrs. Vinson and daughter Mary Alice to Paris. Mrs. Vinson is the mother of Mrs. White, formerly Miss Jewel Vinson. After the accident occurred, Mrs. White and Mrs. Vinson were taken to Baylor hospital at Dallas for treatment. Both of them remained there.

The accident is said to have occurred when another car cut in front of the automobile driven by Mr. White, catching the front wheels of his car and causing it to strike the curb of a concrete bridge. The car was overturned and wrecked.

Both of the injured women were said to be resting well Monday.

Lamar County School News

Consolidation Strict Organization and Supervision

VOL. 3 NO. 1 PARIS, TEXAS, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1930 DEDICATED TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF LAMAR COUNTY SCHOOLS

Lamar County Rural Library Contains Over 2,000 Titles

School Chat

Now that practically all schools have begun, we should all begin to think seriously of the condition of our schools. If they are not as good as they should be, we should try to think of some means improving them.

Do the school grounds need cleaning and leveling? It will require only a few hours time for even a few of the pattrons to do this work. The children are always anxious to help, and teachers will also do their part.

How many playgrounds in Lamar county would be beautified by the addition of a few shade trees? There are a number of playgrounds on which there is not a single tree. Yet, it will take little time to prepare the ground for tree planting, and if the financial condition of the community is such that money can not be subscribed to buy trees, there are numerous native trees which may be easily escured.

Patrons in schools where the teachers are teaching their first year should make every effort to become acquainted with the teachers as quickly as possible. Any teacher will do better work in a community where the patrons treat the teachers as 'home folks.' Teachers are only human, and will appreciate the patron's friendliness.

Teachers going into new communities should also make every effort to gain the respect and confidence of their patrons. More than one-half the trouble between patrons and teachers comes from the fact that they do not understand each other. While Johnny may be a 'little wart' at school, he is almost sure to be a perfect angel at home. The more of the children's home life the teacher can learn, the easier becomes the task of teaching them.

If teachers and parents would discuss their common problems more often, there would be fewer problems. The most logical means of discussing common problems of parents and teachers is through an active Parent-Teacher organization. There should be one in every school in Lamar county.

(EDITOR'S NOTE.)
Teachers and pupils of all schools are requested to send in letters for the Lamar County School News. Letters should be written and mailed Friday. Letters received Monday can not be published until the next week. Every effort will be made to publish all letters received.

POSITIVE OTHERS WILL BENEFIT AS SHE DID

Sherman Woman Suffered With Her Stomach For Six Years, Few Doses of Argotane Brings Relief.

"If Argotane does for others what it is doing for me and I have every confidence it will, they will be more than satisfied with the results," said Mrs. Ed Hix, well known Sherman woman, who lives at 712 South Willow Street, while in conversation at her home a few days ago.

"For five or six years I suffered with liver disorders," continued Mrs. Hix, "and from this trouble I had a dull pain and soreness in my back, extending high up under my shoulder blades. At night after eating I would bloat up and be miserable from this gassy condition. Finally had to give up eating an evening meal. I also suffered a great deal with bad headaches. Recently, I found something that is bringing relief from all this, Argotane.

"I began reading about Argotane in the local papers and decided it might be the thing for me in my case. After just a few doses I began getting relief from my troubles and soon reached the point where I could eat again without suffering from it. I do not bloat any more ,headaches have disappeared, pain and soreness much improved. I know Argotane is good and I am glad to recommend it."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Paris at the Palace Drug Store.—Adv.

Co. Superintendent

Delbert D. Kyle, county superintendent for the last four years had had much to do with the progress of Lamar county schools in the last few years. Mr. Kyle inaugurated the county-wide seventh grade plan, the uniform opening date for schools an dthe Lamar County School News. He also was instrumental in bringing about other changes in the school system of the county.

Since he has been serving Lamar county as superintendent, Mr. Kyle has received recognition throughout the state as a far-sighted school man. He has received numerous inquiries about his work in this county. At the last State Teachers association meeting, he was elected president of the county superintendents' section. Since that time he has been appointed on the committee on rural education, of the State Teachers' association.

Miss Mary Jones

Miss Mary Jones, Democratic nominee for county superintendent of public schools, is a native of Lamar county, having been born and reared at Medill, northeast of Paris. She has taught as principal in Lamar county schools for the last five years. She will take up the duties of the county supeirntendent's office January 1.

Miss Jones said Monday that she would favor any step for the advancement of Lamar county schools. "There has been great progress in the schools of this county during the last few years," said Miss Jones, "but there remains plenty to be done."

Miss Jones declined to make any statement as to what her policy in regard to the various schools of the county would be, other than that she would be at all times guided by the wishes of a majority of the patrons of the public schools and the best interests of all the schools.

Tickets on Sale For 3-Act Play

Reserved seats may be secured by the public Tuesday at Williams-Burgess drug store, for the Little Theatre's presentation Thursday and Friday evenings, of "Love in a Mist," three act comedy, at the Masonic auditorium.

Membership in the Little Theatre has reached approximately 250, and as choice of reserved seats was restricted to members only on Monday, those who have not secured their reservations should do so as early as possible.

The play is a modern comedy by Amelie Rives (Princess Troubetzkoy) and Gilbert Emery, and has as its theme, the poet's lines, "Oh, what a tangled web we weave, when first we practice to deceive," the plot being concerned with a young girl's predicament when her two lovers come togethr, and her inability to cope with the situation. How the matter finally works itself out is the basis of a series of laughable and delightful complications.

This first full length dramatic offering by the Paris Little Theatre for the season, under direction of Mrs. Emma Alexander promises to be an interesting development in the amateur stage here.

MORE THAN 1,000 NEW BOOKS HAVE BEEN RECEIVED

Several Professional Volumes are Added. Reading Room is Available

The rural circulating library which was started last year now contains more than 2,000 volumes, an addition of more than 1,000 volumes being recently made. It is thought that the library now will accomodate the greater part of the rural schools. In addition to adding the new books, the book room in the courthouse has been re-arranged in order that the library books may be kept separate from the text books. Additional shelving has been built and the shelves have been stained. The books have been arranged so that they are easily selected.

Among the new volumes added to the rural library may be found a number of professional books for the teachers. A number of chairs and tables have been placed in the book room in order that those who care to may read there. There are several volumes that deal with teaching methods through the primary and intermediate grades.

Among the most popular books with the children are included, the "Little Would Not" series, "The Real Mother Goose," "Robinson Crusoe," "Robin Hood," "Andersen's Fairy Tales," "Tom Sawyer," "Huckleberry Finn," "Life of Lee," and hundreds of others.

After the inauguration of the rural circulating library, the number of reading certificates issued to children in the rural schools of Lamar county increased more than 200 per cent. In 1928, 39 reading certificates were issued to children attending the rural schools of the county, but last year, 129 certificates were awarded. In order to receive a reading certificate, a pupil must have read 15 books approved by the State Department of Education. All the books included in the circulating library are approved by the department.

Reading tests given to pupils in the seventh grade, before and after the library was established showed that there was a decided increase in the ability of the pupils to read and understand the tests, after the library was used.

Miss Mattie Epperson said Monday that she thought all pupils of the county would read more books this year than ever before. She said there was a larger number of volumes to make selections from, and that there was more interest being shown this year. The librarian has been receiving requests for books for several days. None have been given out yet, as it was necessary to number and record the books before allowing them to be taken out.

Mrs. Frank Grimes, a former teacher in Paris high school is librarian.

Due to the fact that the library is still comparatively small, the following rules have been adopted.

Books may be kept one month by any school.

Books will not be mailed to schools, but teachers may mail them back to the office.

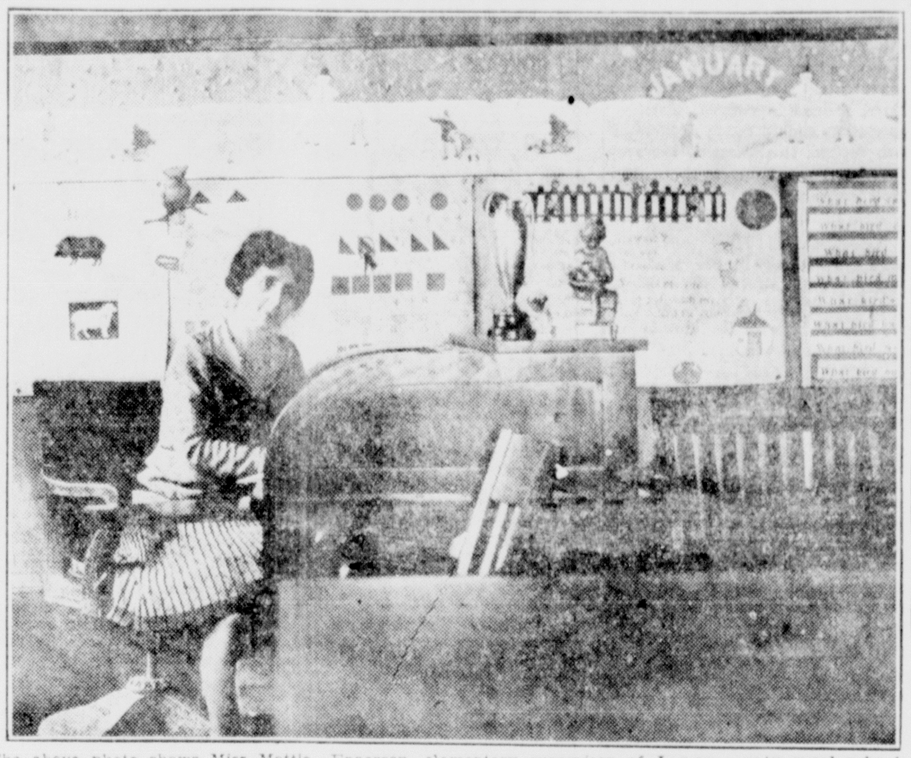
A fine of 10 cents will be assessed and collected from each school day that books are kept over due.

All books lost must be paid for in full. Principals will be held responsible for books.

Books will be loaned to rural schools only.

Superintendent Kyle announced Monday that library books will available by the last of this week.

ELEMENTARY SUPERVISOR AT HER DESK



The above photo shows Miss Mattie Epperson, elementary supervisor of Lamar county rural schools at her desk in the superintendent's office at the courthouse. Miss Epperson visits the various schools of the county at regular intervals, advising the teachers, giving tests to the children and generally helping to improve the work of the primary and intermediate teachers. Miss Epperson says that she will stress the importance of mental hygiene in the primary grades this year. She will also give tests in reading and arithmetic similar to last year, and will add language tests this year. She says that in her opinion, the Lamar County School News is invaluable in acquainting the schools with the work being done throughout the county.

For Lamar County Schools

Another school year has begun, and with it comes the third volume of the Lamar County School News. Each Tuesday, until the eight-month schools close, a page or more of live school news will be included in the regular issue of the Paris Morning News. This page will be devoted to the development of Lamar county schools, and each issue will contain letters from the various schools telling of school activities.

During the last two years, pictures of practically all the schools in the county have been published in the school section, as well as numerous pictures of teachers and pupils. Schools throughout the county have been able to keep in touch with other schools and learn what was being done in other communities.

News representatives have also made visits to a number of the schools, making pictures and gathering material for stories.

During the present school term, one full day each week will be given to the preparation of copy for the school page by a member of The News editorial staff.

Each school in the county is requested to send in letters containing school news. These will be used the following Tuesday after receipt.

Letters will be sent to teachers in the various schools, together with suggestions for sending in news. It is probable that a representative of The News will visit the most of the schools during the present term.

The News is anxious to co-operate with the teachers in any way possible. All teachers of the county are invited to send in suggestions for handling the school news. A special invitation is given for teachers to contribute ideas for use in "School Chat." All letters must be signed, but names will be withheld.

Grain Dealers Score Farm Relief Plan

CHICAGO, Oct. 13, (AP)—The government's farm relief program and operation of the Canadian wheat pool came in for condemnation Monday by speakers before the 34th annual convention of the Grain and Feed Dealers national association.

Charles Quinn, of Toledo, O., secretary-treasurer of the organization, denounced the agricultural marketing act as "wholly unsound, wholly inadequate to bring relief to farmers and wholly unsuited to the psychology of the American people." Turning his attention to federal treatment of the farm aid problem, he said:

"Fair minded grain traders do not protest the organization of farmers to distribute their products but they do protest the means employed by President Hoover and the unfair, unwarranted methods used to displace a system that has proved its value to the country."

CHILDREN SUMMONED BY ILLNESS OF FATHER

All the children of J. H. Conwell of Brookston were summoned there Sunday by his critical illness. They are: C. K. Conwell of Altus, Okla.; Herman Conwell, wife and son of Ardmore, Okla.; W. A. Conwell and wife, Paris; Elmer Conwell and wife, High; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gregory, Paris; Mr. and Mrs. George B. Thompson and Mrs. Marie Wright of Brookston. Mrs. Conwell's brother, U. S. Logue and wife, also visited the Conwell home Sunday.

ATTENDANCE LOW AT AMBIA SCHOOL

Late Cotton Causes Many Children of Community to Be Late

Although school opened at Ambia September 29, attendance has been light. There is a considerable amount of cotton to be picked in the community, and there will be several pupils who will not start until after the crop is gathered.

Teachers at Ambia this year are, Frank Jackson, Miss Bernice Whitten and Miss Jennie Hogan.

There are several beginners in school this year and all of them are doing fine work.

The ninth and tenth grades at Ambia are studying Spanish this year. The home economics class has been testing the various foods for starch content, the last week.

The school radio is out of order, but will be repaired within a short time.

All the pupils are beginning to think about plans for the Hallow'en Carnival and party which will be held at Ambia Oct. 31.

Musical Program At Pleasant Hill

A musical program will be given at Pleasant Hill school Wednesday night, beginning at 7 o'clock, according to an announcement received by The News. No admission charge will be made and everyone is invited to attend.

PATRONS CLEAN PLAYGROUND AT MIDWAY SCHOOL

Manual Trining Room is Constructed Under Auditorium

Patrons of Midway school met last Wednesday and cleaned the school grounds, cutting down the bushes and weeds and taking down some of the trees on the ground. Afted the ground had been cleared of underbrush and weeds a grader was used to level the playground.

The school board at Midway used an ingenious plan to construct a manual training room. The stage of the auditorium is raised several feet above the ground, and the dirt was excavated still further below the stage. This was boarded up, and windows placed in the west end of the room. Shelves for the tols were made by digging away the sides of the walls for a depth of about 18 inches and flooring this space.

Two new stoves have been bought, and all others repaired. Other repairs have been made on the building and equipment.

Midway added a sixth teacher this term. Eleven grades are now being taught. There are at present about 130 pupils enrolled.

A Parent-Teacher association was organized Wednesday night. A large crowd was present, and a short program was given by local talent. Offcers elected were, Jess Hutchings, president, Luther Shaw, vice president and Mrs. Mary Jane Griffin, secretary.

Trustees at Midway school announced Saturday that they were planning to plant shade trees along the south and west sides of the playground. A hedge will also be planted.

Local Firm Adds To Rural Library

Alexander Book company has recently furnished the rural school circulating library with more than 1,000 volumes additional reading matter. In these volumes is included a number of the most popular books for children in the primary and intermediate grades.

Among the libraries furnished by the Paris firm are the high school library, the pubic library of Paris, the Junior college library and the rural school library.

Six Weeks Examinations at PJC Begin This Week

J. R. McLemore, dean of Paris Junior college, announced Monday that the examinations marking the close of the first six weeks' session would begin the latter part of this week.

They will continue through next week, and constitute the mid-term examinations for the fall term which ends December 6.

PTA Committee To Meet Tuesday

Meeting of all committee chairmen for the Parent-Teacher association Hallowe'en carnival will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 at the fair grounds, and Mrs. Walter Faught, general carnival chairman asks representation from each group, in order to perfect plans as soon as possible.

The general outline for the entertainment in all its phases will be discussed, booths and other locations for the different features will be selected and other details settled.

This will be the fourth annual carnival sponsored by the P. T. A., and affords opportunity for children and grown ups alike to enjoy the holiday.

A Daughter Born

A 9-pound girl was born Monday morning at Austin to Mr. and Mrs. Stirling E. McCullough, according to word received by Prof. J. G. Wooten. She is his first granddaughter, Mrs. McCullough being remembered here as Miss Lucile Wooten.

To be a Healthy Woman watch your Bowels!

What should women do to keep their bowels moving freely? A doctor should know the answer. That is why pure Syrup Pepsin is so good for women. It just suits their delicate organism. It is the prescription of an old family doctor who has treated thousands of women patients, and who made a special study of bowel troubles.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients. It doesn't sicken or weaken you. No restrictions of habit or diet are necessary while taking it. But its action is thorough. It carries off the sour bile and poisonous waste. It does everything you want it to do. It is fine for children, too. They love its taste. Let them have it every time their tongues are coated or their skin is sallow.

When you've a sick headache, can't eat, are bilious or sluggish; and at the times when you are most apt to be constipated, take a little of this famous prescription (all druggists keep it ready in big bottles), and you'll know why Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite laxative of over a million women!

SHOOTING ON SUSPICION

OVER in England policemen on patrol duty carry no firearms. Their clubs are little more than a badge of authority, yet no one questions the efficiency of the famous Bobbies.

Compared with England, the United States is an armed camp. The law, from traffic cop to coast guard, is armed to the teeth, including blackjack, pistol, riot guns, one pounders and machine guns. As a result gangsters and criminals of the really desperate variety are rarely killed except in gang feuds by their own kind, but minor offenders and innocent bystanders form an impressive list of casualties.

It is a question whether the police forced the criminal to arm or whether the reverse is true, but it is a fact that efficient police work ought to be able to apprehend the outlaw without recourse to drastic and instantaneous measures such as the service pistol affords.

Policemen and federal officials too quick on the trigger are responsible for that alarming number of "accidental" shootings in which innocent citizens have been the victims. They have been responsible for coast guard patrols firing upon each other.

There is some occasion for our police going armed, but there is no occasion for firing upon fleeing persons and speeding automobiles and into the dark merely on suspicion and on the one chance in a million that the bullet will pick out a criminal and bring him to justice.

DISASTER PROFITS TEXAS

DISASTER that befell the R-101 will bring profit to Texas, at the same time it definitely sets aside hydrogen-filled craft.

Texas producing non-inflammable helium, virtually enjoys a monopoly on the product. An embargo keeps other nations from getting the gas. The aviation-minded have already asked that the embargo be lifted to release a peace-time supply. It would contribute to the progress of lighter-than-air craft, benefiting all nations.

We preach safety in other things, why not have as much safety as possible surrounding an infant industry. We had begun to have much confidence in dirigibles by reason of successful ocean crossings and round-the-world flights. Hydrogen would largely defeat the possibilities of the industry.

Thus does disaster open the gates to the development of Texas resource, providing a channel for the world's dollars to flow in. International independence is emphasized in that disaster and its results. World peace should be so much assured that we would have no fears of war in opening this new channel of commerce.

OFFICIAL RACKETEERS

THE Baltimore Sun points out, in a recent editorial, that one of the reasons for our failure in handling crime is the character, or lack of it, of many politically minded judges and prosecutors. "Obviously, much remains to be done to modernize legal concepts, court machinery and procedures," says the Sun. "But, the most important check on the crime industry is not a matter of court practice at all, but some assurance that the prosecutor who makes the preliminary investigation, or the judge who consents to the bail bond, or the postponement, is not just another racketeer."

This side of the crime problem has been given a new interest by the recent astonishing exposure of the apparent "sale" of magistrates' seats in New York. Undoubtedly, the vast majority of judges and prosecutors are honest and incorruptible. But one high official, by making political bargains or forming affiliations with criminals for one reason or another, can defeat justice.

A "FRIENDLY" TARIFF

IN the past most of us have been interested in the tariff only in its relation to domestic industrial and agricultural conditions. Now we must likewise look at it in the light of international relations.

Property and progress in the future will be largely determined by the volumes of business carried on between us and other nations. What is wanted is a tariff that, while protecting American living standards, wages and industries against unfair foreign competition, will likewise allow development of our trade relations with the rest of the world.

If that county is anything like Lamar there are fifty communities that can bring a show to Mineral Wells from its own neighborhood that will make the town actors take a back seat.

The alleged Sherman rioters are now set for trial November 17, just a little more than six months after the riot. Not much reason for transferring the cases to Dallas—Grayson county folks have had plenty of time to forget about it and therefore are competent to sit on the jury.

Who's Who—Timely Views

RAIN PRODUCTION BY HUMAN EFFORT HELD IMPOSSIBLE

By Dr. W. J. Humphreys
Meteorological Physicist of the Weather Bureau

FEDERAL state and and municipal governments should not expect results from human attempts to invoke rain. For years in this country and abroad there have been efforts to produce rain, but all experiments have failed to furnish the slightest support of the theoretical magic of rain making.

It is a sound business principle for business to consult experts in whatever field of activity is concerned. If you have a watch you don't go to a carpenter to diagnose its problems, and in industry one properly goes to those who have knowledge of a given subject. So in government, we consult specialists in particular activities, trained in certain fields.

Business and individuals should go, in matters of consultation and information, to those who are recognized by others as scientists and not to those who are only so recognized by themselves. In other words we should be as sensible in business as in any other activity.

From our knowledge of how nature produces rain, it is immediately evident to the scientifically trained mind that artificial production of rain is humanly impossible, merely because the amount of work necessary to produce it is vastly greater than we have at our command. A business man should not encourage anything of the kind because it is diverting money from legitimate channels into foolish expenditures.

There never has been and can not be a case of rain making. It is physically impossible for the same reason that it is not and never has been possible for any man to shoulder the Washington monument and walk away with it. It is not strange to me that we have in this country as well as in Sumatra and Malaysia and among the benighted tribes of Africa those who pose as rain makers and either believe or make others believe these may be something in that kind of magic. The curious thing and the marvel to me is that there are wealthy business men who foster such attempts.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

FINE SPIRIT IN INDUSTRY

From the Toronto Daily Star:

THE action of the Toronto bricklayers and contractors in agreeing upon a three-day working week temporarily, rather than have many of the workers laid off, has attracted attention and is regarded in some quarters as pointing to a necessary permanent adjustment of economic conditions.

The newspapers report that the shop employes of the Canadian National Railways were offered the option of a 40-hour week for all or nearly all of the staff or a 44-hour week, with a considerable number out of work. The men decided to favor the shorter working week.

The Trades and Labor Congress looks with approval on the shorter working-week policy and is commending it to both capital and labor. Economists are fairly well agreed that the world is moving towards a much shorter working week than the present working week, but this, however desirable, may not be reached until adversity repeatedly has prodded the world toward its. Even so reactionary a person as Lord Birkenhead, in his book "The World in 2930," predicts that a hundred years hence the average working week will not be more than one or two days which, at the distance, appears to be a rather fantastic possibility.

Many employers of labor may suffer genuine embarrassment in their efforts to help their staffs and make the blow delivered by business depression felt diffusely by the many rather than concentratedly by the few. And many employers will vote for the shorter hours, not out of fear, but because of their desire to see justice done to the other fellow and conditions made as equable as possible.

This new consideration for the underdog, shown by both factors in industry, this readiness to bear one another's burden, reveal the workers and employers in a pleasing light. In that spirit it should be possible to remove all the principal hardships imposed by the existing economic system without resorting to violence or display of ill-will.

FOR FEWER DIVORCES

From the Brownwood Bulletin:

SUITS for divorce in the 35th judicial district are are going to be real lawsuits hereafter, according to District Judge E. J. Miller, and it is hoped that the court may not weaken in that determination.

Speaking of the matter at Coleman the other day, Judge Miller said divorces will not be granted in his court hereafter on frivolous grounds, and that testimony given in divorce hearings will have to be corroborated. This is a measure of reform that has long been needed, here and throughout Texas. The law establishes a number of reasons upon which divorce actions may be predicated, and it isn't especially difficult to sever the matrimonial ties in a legal manner if one is disposed to do so. The custom, in this district at least, has been for divorce suits to have private hearings and a minimum of publicity is attached to them, so that a petitioner may safely allege almost anything as a ground for seeking a divorce without suffering public humiliation because of it. This being so, the allegations frequently are far from true, and nobody challenges them because it rarely happens that a divorce suit is contested.

Perhaps if Judge Miller tightens the regulations a bit, a great many couples who have been experiencing periodical storms on the sea of matrimony may decide to stay with the ship and try to arbitrate their differences. There have been too many divorces in this district.

Guiding Your Child

COOPERATIVE HELPS
By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

When Judy was given a room of her own, her mother explained to her what a help it would be if she would learn to keep it tiday, to hang up her clothes and put things where they belonged.

Judy, who in the nursery with her small brother, had been most careless, became over night a model of neatness.

She was pleased with herself, pleased with the attractiveness of her room and pleased with the approval that came to her as a result.

Billy's was an established case of enuresis. He had been punished, threatened, bribed and shamed without effect. There was no improvement, however, until mother made a fresh start.

She assumed that Billy himself was eager to leave behind his babyish habit. Voluntarily then he submitted to the necessary routine. He got up cheerfully when wakened at night. He denied himself liquids at the supper table.

One evening he even gave up watermelon, asking only that his mother "leave it, please, in the ice box for my lunch."

The moment we get a child to cooperate with us in trying to break some bad habit, we have him working with us instead of against us. He will persevere amazingly. He will make self-denials and exercise a degree of self-control which we could never hope to obtain by coercion or the pressure of disapproval.

In order to win him to our side, it is necessary for us to feel for him a genuine friendliness.

We must take pains to see to it that what we ask of him seems reasonable from his point of view.

With a little imagination and patience, it is usually quite possible to make necessary explanations in terms which he can fully understand and appreciate.

A NEW YORKER AT LARGE

By Mark Barron

NEW YORK (AP)—The Passing Show:

There is a building on an Eighth avenue corner that has had its trials during the past three years.

A furniture store tried to succeed and failed there. Then along came a clothing store and a restaurant, but there was no business.

At last the building has a successful tenant. A midget golf course cost $50,000 has been installed there and the place is crowded.

A restaurant near Columbus Circle has changed its plan of charging a dollar an hour and the customers were given all they could eat in that time.

Too many heavy appetites patronized the place, and the manager discovered that many people could eat more than a dollar's worth in 10 minutes.

Early morning scene on Central Park West: Cole Porter, who wrote "What Is This Thing Called Love," vainly seeking a taxicab. He is the wealthiest of song writers. His wife is the beautiful Linda Lee, of Louisville.

Doleful Opening

Although a hit show had just opened in his theater, Sam H. Harris was seen moaning in the lobby of the Plaza. His horse had just won a race and he had forgotten to get up a bet.

We wonder if Jack Dempsey still likes to walk around the house in his bare feet. This was his favorite sport when he was training for the first fight with Tunney.

And where is Augustus Thomas, the witty after dinner speaker? He nearly broke up a dinner in honor of Tunney when he began to speak of "the epidemic of Barrymores on Broadway." Some of the sport writers thought he was referring to them.

So "Smoky Joe" Martin has retired. He's been fighting fires on Manhattan for 46 years. He was a gauge for reporters for many years. A fire in New York was never worth any space in the newspapers until "Smoky Joe" arrived on the scene. Then it became an important fire.

Size 17

Hendrik Willem Van Loon has just published his new book, a biography of Rembrandt. Which reminds us that his former wife, Frances Goodrich, is now a successful playwright.

Which also reminds us that we have a dress shirt, size 17, belonging to Mr. Van Loon if he wants it. He left it behind in our apartment when he sailed for Holland a few years ago, and we have not yet run across another person who could wear a size 17 shirt.

The intimate circle at the Metropolitan Opera is rather disturbed because painters have been busy in the office of William Guard, who has been press agent for the opera, many, many years.

The walls have been covered by autographed pictures of opera stars, and it is estimated that it is 25 years since a painter's brush was brought into the office.

Perhaps it was decided merely to renovate the Guard office instead of building a new opera house.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

Dr. Clendening

Diabetes is a disease of certain cells in the pancreas, the result of which is that the body cannot utilize sugar or starch.

All the numerous complications of diabetes arise from that comparatively simple defect.

Normally sugar and starch—any of the substances known as carbohydrates—are utilized in the body for fuel. Life cannot go on if the carbohydrates are not utilized, any more than an automobile can run without burning gasoline. Carbohydrate is present in bread and breadstuffs, sugar, vegetables, fruits, honey and milk. The body can convert parts of meat and eggs into carbohydrate, and a small part of fat.

When carbohydrate is absorbed into the blood in a normal person, it goes to the muscles or the liver. In the liver it is stored. In the muscles it is burned, when muscular activity is carried on. If the supply in the muscles is exhausted they call on the storage supply in the liver.

Whichever way the carbohydrate gets to the muscles, it is burned after the same manner. It unites with oxygen, furnishing energy just as the union of oxygen with gasoline furnishes energy in your motor car or the union of oxygen and coal furnishes heat and energy in your furnace.

The thing which happens in diabetes which prevents the usual process from taking place is that a secretion from certain cells in the pancreas is absent or deficient. The nature of this secretion is now known and is called insulin. It seems to act much as the sparker on your automobile engine works, or a match applied to the wood or coal in your furnace. It touches off the sugar and oxygen and causes them to unite. In diabetes there is just as much sugar and just as much oxygen present as in a normal body, but there is not the insulin to cause them to burn.

The result of this failure to burn the sugar is that it accumulates in the muscles and in the blood and is cast off by the kidneys in the urine. The kidneys are very sensitive to unusual amounts of sugar in the blood, and instantly remove all in excess of .1 per cent.

Thus the outstanding sign of diabetes is sugar in the urine. Many people suppose that because the urine is abnormal in diabetes because it must be examined so often and because it is such a good index to the patient's condition, that diabetes is a disease of the kidneys. This is not true. The kidneys are perfectly healthy. It is the cells of the islets of Langerhans in the pancreas that are at fault.

Tomorrow we will discuss the symptoms the patient feels in diabetes.

Backward Glances

By A. W. NEVILLE

Road orders made by the Lamar county police court, in addition to the Bonham and Greenville roads that I told of heretofore at the February term of the court, 1850, included:

Clarksville road, which was the main traveled line coming into Paris from the east at that time. The court divided this road into three sections for work. The first section was from the east boundary line of the city of Paris, then half a mile east of the public square to the west boundary line of the J. Davis survey in Tollett's prairie, with L. V. Moore as overseer. Section two was from the Davis survey to the west boundary line of the St. Clair survey in Blossom Prairie, with Joel Gibson as overseer, and all hands living north of this road and 1 1-2 miles south were required to work on it. The third section ran from St. Clair survey to the Red River county line, with John Newbern as overseer and persons living three miles north and 1 1-2 miles south were ordered to do work on this section.

Another important road was from Paris to Pine Bluff or as it was often called then, the Pine Hills. This road reached Red river where there was a steamboat landing and much of the lumber used in building in Paris was hauled over it. Some years later the court, as I have told heretofore, granted a franchise for bridging and corduroying some low parts of this road and charge a toll for use of it. At the 1850 February term the first section, from the Paris corporation line to Chas. Askins' place was in charge of N. K. Record. The second section, from Askins to the crossing of the "Old McLemore Trace" was in charge of Thos. Hobbs. The third section from the McLemore Trace to Jacob Lock's was in charge of Elisha Wilson, and the fourth section, from Jacob Lock's to the Pine Hills was in charge of Mr. Lock.

The Clarksville, Bonham, Pine Hills and the Dallas or "National" road, were called first class roads, and all others referred to at that tmie were denominated second class roads.

Reduce Gasoline Duty

WELLINGTON, (AP)—New Zealand has reduced its import duty on gasoline from seven to six cents.

A WASHINGTON BYSTANDER

By Kirke Simpson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Out on stately Massachusetts avenue, where dashing Phil Sheridan gallops forever on his bronze charger to ornament the circle that bears his name, there is a curious building revival in progress.

It always has been a select neighborhod. Mansions of the rich and great loom imposingly even if rarely occupied by their owners.

Around the corner, up S street, is the house to which Woodrow Wilson retired and where he died. A few doors above is Herbert Hoover's home in the days before he was president. Warren Harding's home as senator also is in the vicinity.

The new German embassy will one day crown the S street hill. Fine new residences for Assistant Secretary Castle of the state department and Senator David Reed of Pennsylvania elbow each other up there in friendly fashion, symbolical of the relations between their owners.

All Slicked Up

So it's a nice residential neighborhood and always has been, yet that does not account for the feverish building activity about the circle just now. Between and around the mansions of the great are a lot of elderly smaller homes. The near-rich and near-great have lived in these.

But as the tide of fashion moved toward distant suburbs and the mansion dwellers came less often to keep the winter social season in their stately town houses these smaller places came to be something of a drug on the real estate market.

That is all changed now. Many of these ultra-respectable middle aged homes have been committed to architectural beauty doctors. They are having their faces lifted. Flapperish modern ideas in lead-edpaned casement windows greet the view. There has been a great slicking up and doing over.

What Started It

And why? Well, the only discernible reason for this return of fashion to a section it seemed on the point of leaving is that 'is Majesty, George Rex of England, etc., has built his fine new Queen Anne embassy nearby. And that will be a hub of Washington social doings this winter.

Not only have smaller diplomatic missions flocked to erect their own new homes in the shadow of that typically English pile, but the American fashionable world seems to be doing the same thing. It is truly remarkable what diplomatic and social prestige those Britishers have wherever they go.

The embassy itself looks like a glorified English country house, lacking only a timbered "park" acreage, velveteened game keepers and tenant farmers in smocks.

If Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay and his staff would now and then ride to hounds in pink hunting coats, the illusion would be complete. But they won't, more's the pity.

Cats Prepare For Tilt With Valliant Bulldogs Here Friday

KIAMICHI LOOP LEADERS BRING FIGHTING TEAM

Coaches Berry and Barnett Instruct Charges on New Plays

Coming out of their clash with the Honey Grove Warriors last Friday at Honey Grove in good condition with the exception of Akard, tackle, who suffered a knee injury, the Paris high Wildcats have turned their attention to their clash with the Valliant Bulldogs on Wise field Friday afternoon.

It is not believed that the injury to Akard's knee will prevent his playing in Friday's game, although he will probably be kept off scrimmage this week to avoid possible additional injury to the already ailing member. Webb, flashy little halfback who scored one of the Cat touchdowns at Honey Grove, was injured slightly and was not out for practice Monday afternoon, but it is thought that he too will be ready for action by Friday.

Monday afternoon the Cats spent working on their offensive play. The coaches dished out several new plays for the quarterbacks to try on the Bulldogs and considerable time was spent in mastering the new assignments on these plays. The Wildcat passing attack, which has been one of their best ground gainers this season, was not used much Friday. With his running plays clicking smoothly and Ritchie and Webb ripping off long gains consistently, Evans, who was calling the signals, turned to the air only on a few occasions, one of them being his heave to White which netted 45 yards and took the Cats from their own 20 yard line to the Warrior 35 yard stripe early in the game. It was a beautiful heave and indicated that the blue and white passing attacking was still clicking when called on for yardage.

The Valliant team has played four games to date, winning two and losing one. The fourth game, played Friday with Atoka as opponents, has not been heard from by Paris mentors. The Bulldogs defeated Idabel 13 to 7, it being the first win for them over the Idabel team in five years, bowled over Antlers 18 to 0 and lost to Broken Bow 13 to 7 for a most impressive early season record.

Accounts of the games played by the Bulldogs to date indicate that a big back, Smith, is the main cog in their offense. Against Idabel and Antlers he was the principal ground gainer for the Valliant team and has been largely instrumental in putting the Bulldogs at the top of the heap in the Kiamichi conference. He is a husky six-footer, weighing about 183 pounds and is said to be equally as good through the line or around the ends. Since their loss to Valliant, however, the Antlers team has defeated Durant, the team that blanked the Sherman Bearcats 7 to 0, leaving no doubt of their superiority by trouncing the Durant eleven 33 to 0. These figures give some idea as to the strength of the Valliant eleven.

The Valliant line, reports indicate, is about the same size as that of the Wildcats, which points to a merry battle along the front lines. The Bulldog line will have to show real class, however, to beat down the Wildcat forward wall of Gunter and White ends, Akard and Ivy tackles, Gantt and Knox guards and Fenter center. In the backfield, with the exception of Smith, their main cog, the Valliant quartet is not expected to be on a par with the Wildcat combination of Evans, Webb, Ritchie and Odom, four fine high school backs. The Wildcats should take the Bulldogs into camp by a fairly comfortable margin, but only after a scrap, if advance dope indicates anything. At any rate, the Cats will be primed and ready for anything the Bulldogs care to shoot at them when Friday afternoon rolls around. The coaches have promised that.

Supreme Court Puts Refusal on 135 Petitions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (AP)—The supreme court stamped "refusal on 135 petitions for review Monday in a rapid fire session spent in sorting from 186 of the 285 such petitions before it, the 51 it will pass upon on their merits.

Eighteen more petitions for review were filed Monday and statements were offered showing why 32 others had been appealed, bringing to 149 the total cases the court will dispose of next Monday in preparation for oral arguments next week.

In addition to its work on the docket, the court announced it would permit Arizona to challenge the validity of the construction of Hoover Dam on the Colorado river and gave California and other states in the Colorado basin and secretary of the interior Wilbur until January 5 to show why the controversy should not be heard on its merits.

Hackel to Open Grocery Store

G. R. Hackel has leased the building at the corner of Church and Clarksville streets, formerly occupied by the Barr Motor Co., and will open a service grocery store, he announced Monday. Workmen began Monday renovating the building preparatory to the installation of the fixtures for the new store.

Mr. Hackel stated that the store would be thoroughly modern, with the best fixtures and that the store would probably be opened for business within the next ten days. Mr. Hackel is well known as a grocery merchant, having been engaged in the business practically all of his life.

Inter Empire Tariff Debated

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Inter empire tariffs were debated by the heads of delegations to the Imperial conference Monday but only one clear statement emerged from the discussions. William Graham, president of the board of trade, said the MacDonald government accepted the principle that where tariffs exist in Great Britain tariff preferences shall be given.

There was no clear cut reply from Premier MacDonald or any one else to the Canadian premier's proposal of last week that a ten per cent increase be levied on existing empire preferential duties and in political circles no such reply was expected.

Chicago Cubs Buy Sweetland

CHICAGO, Oct. 13. (AP)—The Cubs Monday purchased Lester Sweetland, left handed pitcher, from the Philadelphia Nationals, their first move to strengthen the pitching staff that sagged at the close of the recent campaign.

President William L. Veeck said the deal was strictly cash, but did not reveal the amount involved. Sweetland was with the Phillies three seasons, coming up from Spartanburg of the Sally league. He won six games and lost 15 with a last place club during the recent season, and won 13 and lost 11 in 1929 when the Phillies finished fifth. He was credited with three victories and 15 defeats in 1928.

Andacious Thief Makes $40 Haul

Entering the home of Mitchell Ragland, 262 Lamar avenue, about 5:30 o'clock Monday morning, a burglar secured $40 in a purse belonging to Mrs. Ragland, opened the front door and escaped.

Entrance was effected by means of a window, it is thought. Mrs. Ragland awakened in time to see the thief in her room. Accosting the man, Mrs. Ragland was told to keep quiet. Her purse, containing four ten dollar bills, was on a dressing table. The burglar took the purse, opened it, removed the money, threw the purse on the floor and went out through the front door, which was fastened on the inside with a night latch.

Officers were immediately notified and investigated, but learned nothing.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA
Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.
Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.
Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

NOTRE DAME MAY PLAY MUSTANGS ON TEXAS SOIL

Owny Believes Could Be Arranged But Price Will Be Large

By GAYLE TALBOT, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

DALLAS, Oct. 13, (AP)—How many of the southwest's football fans would like to see Notre Dame's famous Ramblers play Southern Methodist next year at, say, $5 a throw?

Officials of the local school wish they knew. It could be arranged they believe, if a sufficient number of customers would stand for the jolt. They are doubtful the Irish would consent to play in the new state fair bowl here at the customary $3 top.

Jordan Ownby, prominent alumnus and patron of the Mustang school, doesn't know whether it will be possible to bring Notre Dame to Texas next year, but of one thing he is certain: the Ramblers will not open their 1931 campaign against the Methodists.

"Rockne told me he didn't want to see anything of the Ponies until well up in October or November after this," Ownby said.

No matter what befalls them further along the football byways, the Rice Owls are entitled to three rousing cheers and a tiger at mid-October. By winning their four starts, the Instituters have outdone six conference rivals in the preliminaries.

Texas Christian, with four wins and a tie, has set the next best mark, and the University of Texas Longhorns, with two victories and a tie, are third. The other four have suffered defeat, the Aggies and Arkansas going down twice.

Of six intersectional games played, Southwest conference teams have lost five and tied one, the latter representing Texas' scoreless deadlock with Centenary. Not so good.

Although he played less than a half of the Arkansas game and had no part in running up his team's 40 points, Cy Leland of the Frogs continues to head the individual scorers. The Flying Frog has 36 points, representing six touchdowns. "Red" Harris, Baylor end, holds second place with five touchdowns and 30 points. Other leaders are:

Jamerson, Rice, 28; Lewter, Baylor, 26; Hinton, T. C. U., 25; Hopper, S. M. U., 24; McElreath, Baylor, 20; Dennis, T. C. U., 16; Wallace, Rice, 18; and Shelley, Texas, 18.

By scoring 160 points in five games to their opponents' seven, the Horned Frogs have piled up by far the best team scoring mark.

Arkansas' overwhelming loss to Texas Christian Saturday at Fort Worth must have been sweet music to Centenary college Gentlemen. It provided another fine argument for the Gents in their effort to gain admittance to the Southwest conference.

Since memory of man runneth not to the contrary, the Shreveport eleven has wanted in, pointing out that it was more handy to the conference geographically and had stronger teams than the Razorbacks. In point of fact, the Gentlemen haven't been far from right in either contention, but the conference fathers so far have turned their nether ear.

On successive week ends Centenary has played the University of Texas to a scoreless tie and beaten the University of Iowa. Arkansas, meantime, was being drubbed by Tulsa university and the Horned Frogs.

Expect McCarthy to Manage Yanks

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—One day this week, possibly Tuesday, Joseph McCarthy is expected to visit the offices of the New York merican league baseball club and sign a contract to manage the Yankees.

The Yankees' offices Monday observed the Columbus Day holiday but they will be open Tuesday and the rest of the week. So the former manager of the Cubs may send his card and soon thereafter take a pen in hand to sign a contract.

Neither Jacob Ruppert, president, nor E. G. Barrow, secrtpary, has admitted McCarthy will transfer his allegiance from the National to the American league but everyone else in baseball semes to have taken it for granted.

MRS. HILL LEADS WOMEN GOLFERS

Posts 79, Two Under Par, to Capture Medal Honors in Nat'l Amateur

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13, (AP)—While the galleries followed the defending titleholder and other stars, Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, not spectacular but decidedly steady, slipped in Monday to post a fine 79, two under par, and capture medal honors in the qualifying round of the 1930 women's national amateur golf championship.

The Missouri golfer, who took up the game in the last decade, gave a practical demonstration that average length shots straight down the middle surpass hard wallops that wander into the rough and the old axiom "never up, never in," is correct in activities on the greens. She went out in 40, one over par, but lopped three strokes off standing figures with a 39 for the inward stretch.

That bit of sub-par golf was good enough to show the way to Miss Glenna Collett, New York city, seeking her third successive title and fifth all-time crown, and others whose names are considerably better known.

One stroke behind the leader came Helen Hicks, 19-year old miss from Inwood, Long Island, N. Y., with an 80. Tied for third place with par 81's were Miss Collett, Miss Virginia Van Wie of Chicago and Miss Maureen Orcutt of Hawarth, N. J.

An 82 placed Mrs. Leona Pressler, San Gabriel, runner up in this event last year, well up among the leaders. Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia, real veteran of the field, qualified easily with an 85.

DRAGONS WITHOUT GAME THIS WEEK

With Wichita Falls Tilt Cancelled, Locals Plan For Aggie Game

Hitting their stride after two wins and a lone defeat, the Paris junior college Dragons and Coaches Bob Berry and Hub Hollis find themselves without a game this week end.

The Dragons were originally scheduled to meet the Wichita Falls junior college Indians on Saturday, Oct. 18, but the Wichita Falls school has struck football from its program, leaving the local team minus a game for this week.

Efforts at securing a contest for the Dragons have thus far been futile. Coach Berry has endeavored to obtain several nearby schools for his team in order to keep them going at full speed as they prepare for their opening conference engagement with the North Texas Aggies at Wise field on October 24.

In the meantime, with no engagement this week, the Dragons have been going through their paces, learning new plays and brushing up on their old ones prior to their meeting with the Aggies, which promises to be the best and most colorful game of the entire season for the Dragons. Last year the Dragons lost a heart-breaking 6-0 contest to the Aggies at Arlington when a fumble gave the Cadets the ball in easy scoring position.

YALE TOUCHDOWN VIOLATION RULE

Counter Allowed in Georgia Game on Recovery Kick off Ball

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—Not that it makes any particular difference now, but in the cold, gray, dawn of the morning after, it has been discovered that one of the Yale touchdowns against Georgia Saturday was not in accord with the football statutes, made and provided in such cases.

The miscarriage of justice came at the beginning of the second half when Yale was leading Georgia 7-6 and then increased the count to 14-6.

Yale kicked off. The ball struck in the arms of Kelly, Georgia back, who ran a few steps to his own 20 yard line where he was hit hard by Captain Vincent of Yale. With the impact of the Yale tackle's body the ball bounded from the arms of Kelly straight into the hands of Barres, Yale end.

Barres caught the ball in his stride and dashed straight ahead over the goal line.

The officials evidently overlooked rule 6, governing the kick-off, for without a question the touchdown was allowed and the ball placed in position for the try for extra point, which was quickly added by Sullivan's toe.

Rule 6 says:

"If the ball is recovered by a player of the receiving team before it is declared dead, he may run with it, pass it backward or kick it; if the ball is recovered by a player of the kicking team the ball is dead at the point of recovery.

Walter R. Okeson, commissioner of the Eastern association for selection of football officials was asked by the Associated Press for an opinion on the play. Commissioner Okeson replied:

"Rule six says that if the kicking team recovers the ball on a kickoff it is dead at the point of recovery and in a supplementary note it is stated that after the kickoff the ball is to be considered a kicked ball until it is declared dead; therefore, the kicking team may not run with the ball if recovered on a kickoff."

Captain Maffett of Georgia made no protest to Referee W. T. Halloran so far as could be observed from the stands, so perhaps he, too, had forgotten the rule against running with a fumbled ball. Or he might have been more confident than his team's supporters that the Georgians would score two touchdowns later in the afternoon the last and deciding one in the last two minutes of play.

A jusitce of the peace at Tecumseh, Kas., W. J. Rickenbacker, was fined for driving his car with wrong license tags.

SPLASH! She Swims to Conquer

CHAPTER 41

But even with fear in her heart and every fiber of her being outraged—for Kitty was a modest, decent girl, with fine instincts and a passion of inward purity, which was innately offended at anything coarse—Kitty looked at the faces, fixing them in her mind.

He of the nasal voice was thin, a pinched nose, pale, dark hair, a twisted mouth.

The big man who held the whip was obviously of a lower type, a bruiser. He might be a prize fighter, an ex-bartender, a policeman—no! Spike was a policeman.

The man next him had a short greyish moustache, but his identifying mark was a livid white scar across his chin.

The fourth man had not removed his handkerchief; she could see no more of him than before. He was short and stout—but hundreds of men are short and stout.

Kitty's arms gave out. She lowered herself to the chair, carried it noiselessly across the room and had just time to seat herself when the big burly man came back, alone.

He wasted no time, but strode over to her, pinioned her hands in his and tied them securely with a handkerchief.

"Now!" he growled. His voice matched the face he did not know she had seen. "I . . ."

Kitty looked him in the eyes; she could see the flush come up beyond the mask on his forehead.

He tried again.

"I don't want to do it, sister!" he grumbled. "You looks like a nice kid. But you'll tell or . . . we'll hurt you."

There was no mistaking his gesture.

Kitty nodded. The play had gone far enough. Not even for the sake of courage or Mr. Goss did she want to be hurt.

"What do you want to know?" she asked.

"All you know! An' we ain't fooling, sister. You tell and tell straight or . . ."

He took hold of her arm with one hairy hand.

"Let go!" she answered him. "I'll give it to you."

He stared at her. "Give it to me?" he growled.

"Yes. Call your master!"

The tough swore at her. The general tone of his remarks was that he hadn't any master.

"Oh, yes you have!" she retorted. "You are just a cur dog, doing your master's bidding! And he is only a mongrel or he wouldn't be fighting a girl—and not playing fair!"

For an instant she thought the man would strike her; his eyes gleamed evilly above the mask—the unnecessary mask, although he knew it not. Then he thought better of it and stepped to the door.

"C'mon in!" he grumbled. "The she-cat will spill!"

The four men filed into the room. Kitty had taken the swift opportunity and pulled from her soaked dress the note book package. It, too, was soaked. But she hoped it would still be legible.

She met the man with the queer voice half-way.

"You must be very proud of yourself!" she derided him. "You fight so fairly—you act like such a regular he-man! But I've no intention of being manhandled by such as you. I've done my best. Here's my note book. It contains all I know about what you want to know!"

She handed it to him. "I was told to keep it in a safe place. I was taking it home to put it in my trunk."

Eagerly her captor tore off the soaked wrappings and gently opened the limp pages. Then he whirled on her.

"Shorthand! I can't read it!" he snarled.

"Can't you? That's too bad!" she answered. "Probably you won't believe me if I read it to you. But surely in all New York you can find someone you can trust, who can read it"

The man stood in deep thought for a moment. Then he raised his draped face and Kitty thought he grinned under the handkerchief.

"You'll do!" he answered, and his voice laughed. "Write it out for me—here!" He swept the cover from a typewriter.

"I can do that!" agreed Kitty. But how will you know I write what is here?"

"You'll write it, then you'll read from your notes while I'll read what you've written! If it's the same, word for word, I'll know you've told me truth! If it isn't . . ."

Kitty read the threat. She smiled inside; this was going exactly as Mr. Goss wanted. Whichever book it was, evidently Mr. Goss wanted them to have it. She gave her captor credit for being clever—she would not herself have thought of the transcription, checked with an oral reading from the same notes. Obviously she could not, on the spur of the moment, make up a document and then remember it word for word.

She sat down to the typewriter, and the little group was treated to an exhibition of real typing. Kitty's hands had warmed again, and her fingers flew. It was not as long a job as before, because she was familiar with the copy. But even so, it took her half an hour to type the soaked pages.

Then she handed the results to the masked group. She was interested to observe that only two read it; the others sat around awkwardly, waiting.

"All right! Now read it back to me!" snarled the nasal voice. "And God help you if you've tried any tricks!"

Kitty read her notes, the man followed her typed copy. When she had finished—a matter of ten minutes—he folded the paper and put it in his pocket.

"Can I go home now?" asked Kitty, innocently.

"What do you take us for, fools?" inquired the voice. "You're not going anywhere you can tell anyone, until we reap the results of this!"

He nodded to his henchmen. Kitty was again seized, again the cloth bag went over her head.

"But don't be scared, sister!" The words came dimly through the folds. "We'll take you somewhere where you'll be quite safe, and get you some dry clothes and something to eat."

And with that Kitty had to be content.

In the car, Kitty slumped. Excitement, the capture, the swim, the chase; telephoning Goss, recapture, the strain on her arms as she chinned herself; chill, fear, effort, all had exhausted her. She lay back on the soft seat of the limousine, hardly caring where she was being taken or why. Even the thought of Gordon, unfaithful, Gordon, using her as a mere tool, Gordon, telling Edith—Edith, of all women!—that he would get rid of his sweetheart—did not hurt as it should. It stood outside of her, a pain yet to be endured, an agony with which she yet must grapple.

But now physical weariness had its way with her. She had fought her fight. She had kept her faith. She had done what she had promised to do. And she had won, although her captors thought the victory was theirs. She had seen three of the four faces, never again could she catch a glimpse of any of them, but she would recognize him. Deep in her heart, rumbled a little feeling of joy—for Kitty was but human.

"I'll get square, some way!" she thought. "I know one man, at least, who will fight for me!" Oddly, the thought of Atlee, who had asked her to marry him, of John Spurgeon, who was broken hearted that she would not love him, because comforts. Either of them, she was sure, would take personal revenge on those who tormented her.

The car stopped. She was carried somewhere, up many steps, thrust into a room; a key turned. Kitty was alone.

Wearily she untied the bag and pulled it from her head. The room was dark, but some light filtered in from a window. She looked out on an unknown alley in an unknown town. Too high to jump. She turned from the window. Behind her was a bed. Too tired to undress, soaked as she was Kitty fell on it, drew a warm blanket over her and fell asleep . . . to dream of being safe in Gordon's arms.

NEWSBOYS CLUB ORGANIZED HERE

King Cole Forms Organization at Meeting in News Office

Organization of the Paris Newsboys and Working Boys club by King Cole, "the newsboy's friend," was completed Monday night at the News office when some 20 boys were present to greet Mr. Cole and to enroll in the club.

"The idea in organizing the club," Mr. Cole said, "is to further the interest of the boys in their work and to give them training that will help them not only now but later in their lives." He pointed out that many of the present day leaders of the nation's business were at some time or other carrier boys for newspapers, messenger boys, errand boys or office boys, and that some of them are now working for the company for which they first held a small job.

Tuesday night the members will be guests of the Plaza Theatre to see Gary Cooper in "The Spoilers." A. I. Norman, manager of the theatre, is acting as host for the party.

Officers chosen Monday night were: president, Carrol LeDuke; vice president, John Ivy; secretary, Ben Lewis; treasurer, Sam McClum and sergeant-at-arms, Joe Clifton.

Clifton Withers has been chosen as physical director for the club, with Frank Ivy to act as wrestling instructor. J. W. Ivy, circulation manager of the News, will be honorary president as well as instructor in archery.

Elsewhere in this paper will be found an application blank for membership in the club. Any boy desiring to join is asked to fill out the blank and either mail or bring it to the News office. There is no charge for membership in the club.

COUNCIL MEETING

Manager Grimes reminded Mr. May that it was done in accordance with instructions given to the local management by Mr. May. The mayor stated that he understood that $5 of the deposit had later been returned to the customer.

The mayor stated that the Texas Cities Gas company and its predecessors had been operating in Paris four years and seven months and in that time their bad accounts totalled about $2600. Their receipts from Paris business the past year, the mayor stated, were $177,000. He thought the proportion of loss to the volume of business was small and such of the members as expressed themselves agreed with him.

Mayor Crook reported that a man who is operating a business on Grand avenue had been in his office Monday afternoon and stated that the telephone company had demanded a deposit of $15, and a charge for installation and other expenses of something over $8 before installing his telephone. He had not heard the company's side of this but would try to get it from the manager. Several of the aldermen expressed themselves on the subject of public utility charges all of which was to the effect that they were out of reason.

Persons building duck blinds at Lake Crook, the mayor said, have been wading in the water, which is contrary to the ordinance. After a long discussion in which nearly all members took part it was decided to ask the press to call attention to this and that the policeman at the lake make arrests of anyone wading in the lake. Alderman Payne thought the lake should be made as attractive to hunters and fisherman as possible though he did not approve of this wading. Engineer Hicks said blinds could be built without the builders going into the water but he did not see why they wanted to build blinds, as there were plenty of natural blinds already for what few ducks stop at this lake.

The council approved transfer of the bus lines from White and Son to E. F. Harrell, and agreed with Mr. Harrell that he could try out some other streets for several days to determine whether it would pay him to operate regularly on them. One of these is North Main to the Swift plant, and another is Clarksville to Crockett Circle and across to Lamar avenue. Also he has under consideration South Twenty-fifth to about the end of the paving, across to Thirtieth, and north to Clarksville. These will be tried out in the near future.

Gil Brown asked if arrangements could be made for water for the Odd Fellows cemetery. The council decided to bring the cemetery into the corporation, if the lodge will so request, so water can be supplied. As cemeteries are not taxed there will be no cost to the lodge to have this done.

Frank Reha appeared, and insisted that a sidewalk ought to be built on west side Thirty-first from Lamar to Clarksville. There was long-drawn discussion of this matter which has been before the council several times heretofore, and it was closed by referring to the solicitor and engineer to report what could be legally done to get the necessary ground for the walk, as the so-called street is now too narrow for both roadway and walk, and report at a later meeting.

Joe Hogan asked to have a lot which he owns on the north side of Lamar avenue taken into the corporation so water could be supplied to a filling station to be built there. This was referred to the committe of the whole to view the ground Tuesday morning, and decide if the property would be taken in.

Mayor presented request of J. D. House to have parking on Nineteenth between Bonham and Houston on the west side instead of the east. Some of the aldermen were of the opinion that it was already so ordered but it was decided to make it so if not already so.

Alderman Gill stated that the directors of the athletic field asked for special policemen during games, as they did not take in enough money to justify paying them as heretofore. The mayor said he did not see how the city could afford to pay any more policemen. Mr. Gill thought it was they city's duty to keep order at the games as they are inside the city. It was stated that the principal use of the policemen was to keep people from climbing the fences and seeing the game without paying and Alderman Gill said if that was the idea he did not think the city was obligated to do it. The whole matter was finally referred to the police committee.

Mayor Crook reported that the work of adding gravel on Washington street between South Main and Twenty-third was nearly completed and that the next work would be on the streets at the J. G. Wooten school.

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Only an internal medicine can remove the cause. That's why external remedies and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID, succeeds because it relieves this condition and strengthens the affected parts. Dr. Leonhardt's prescription has such a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief even in chronic and stubborn case, that the Palace Drug Store says try HEM-ROID at our expense. Your pile suffering must end or money back.—Adv.

BRADY FLOOD

began to recede, but not until scores of persons had been forced to flee from their homes near the river—homes they had so recently cleaned—and again they had to pull out personal belonging and carry them to higher ground.

The south Concho river at Christoval, in Tom Green county, left its bank and four feet of water stood in the Santa Fe railway station. It was the biggest rise recorded there since 1906. Four hundred head of sheep were drowned, trapped in the shipping pens. The river was 900 feet wide at its highest stage. The Concho waters washed out 300 feet of Santa Fe railway track between Valera and Talpa.

The Canadian river in the Panhandle swept away two railroad trestles, one each for the Fort Worth and Denver and the Rock Island, tying up railroad traffic north and northeast of Amarillo. The Rock Island had several hundred feet of track washed away between Endee and Sanjon and service was suspended between Amarillo and Liberal, Kans.

The Colorado river was up 18 feet at Ballinger and Elm Creek was on a 15 foot rise, however no damage was anticipated. The streets of the town were flooded for a period after 6.21 inches of rain fell within three hours.

THOMAS, Okla., Oct. 13, (AP)—Flood waters sweeping down the south Canadian river from the Texas Panhandle paralyzed railroad traffic in western Oklahoma Monday when bridges of three companies over streams in Dewey county were washed out.

Bridges of the Santa Fe and Frisco railroads north of Thomas were carried away by the flood waters. The Missouri-Kansas-Texas company's bridge in western Dewey county previously had gone out.

Trains on all lines were being turned back at terminals on each side of the river today, approaching as far as Thomas on the south and as far as Oakwood on the Santa Fe, and Eagle City on the Frisco on the north. Ledy and Camargo were the M-K-T terminals, south and north of the river.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 13, (AP)—Traffic on dirt highways in Oklahoma virtually was at a standstill Monday night, following torrential rains of Sunday, which turned a state drouth-stricken during the summer, into a sea of mud.

Strams in many parts of the state were sent bank full by the deluge. Cotton picking and fall farm work was halted in the southwestern part of the state.

REPORT ROUTED

with his forces continuing toward Itarare, important railhead on a line leading to Sao Paulo.

General Costa told of other conflicts in his area, saying that on his left insurrectionary troops had captured both Jacarezinho and San Jose de Platina, state of Parana, where the federals fled without fighting. He added that another force under Atalviva Leonel had crossed the Sao Paulo border.

Dispatches from Rio de Janeiro quoted the minister of justice as giving a different account. He said 2,000 insurgents had been beaten off at Punto Ribeira. As to the Jacarezinho conflict, he asserted 3,000 federals had routed the rebels and had begun a southward march into Parana, heading for the city of Colonia Mineira.

Military observers here say the only thing definite is that fighting has occurred, whoever may have been the victor.

While their main force is concentrated in the south, the rebel chieftains claim gains in the northeast and the central portions of the country.

Captain Juarez Tavora, conqueror of Pernambuco, has invaded Alagoas with 10,000 men and captured the capital, Maceio, setting up a revolutionary junta for the state. He declared all Brazil north of the river Sao Francisco is in rebel hands, with his army continuing across the river and into Bahia.

The other rebel movement is from Minas Geraes into the state of Bahia, Espirito Santo and Rio de Janeiro. The insurrectos claim the capture of Caravellos, port of southern Bahia, and say their armies are marching through Espirito Santo toward Victoria, the capital. Other forces, they say, have invaded northern Rio de Janeiro and in the vicinity of Cuidad Campos have captured the Hydro power plant along the Parahyba river. This plant supplies much of the state with electricity.

These claims also are disputed by the government in dispatches reaching here.

Rio Grande do Sul, where Getulio Vargas was last reported, is sparsely settled farming land, and it is asserted that rebel troop movements across this trait have been greatly delayed.

The federal plans for the campaign at present include concentration on an advance in Minas Geraes toward the state capital, Bello Horizonte, and then a drive southward from Sao Paulo toward he heart of the revolution in Rio Grande do Sul.

It is admitted the second part of this campaign will be very difficult.

The federals assert the populace in the south is out of sympathy with the revolutionary movement. They say Borges de Madeiras, several times president of Rio Grande do Sul and head of federal party in the state, had offered opposition to the revolutionists, who were obliged to keep watch over him.

DEATH PENALTY IS DEMANDED FOR OKLAHOMAN

ALTUS, Okla., Oct. 13, (AP)—The death penalty was demanded by the state for George Robinson whose trial on a murder charge growing out of the fatal shooting of Elmer Carter, Jackson county deputy sheriff, began in the Jackson county district court here Monday.

Vernon Robinson, a brother of George Robinson and Ernest Jackson of Vernon, Texas, are charged with a murder in the same shooting. Joe Whitt, Altus policeman, who accompanied Carter the night of the shooting suffered a shot in the head which resulted in blindness.

Bandit Killers Believed Held

CENTERVILLE, Mich., Oct. 13, (AP)—Two men who state police say, robbed the old Merchants and Trust Bank in Battle Creek of $4,000 Monday afternoon and killed a state trooper near Sturgis, Mich., in their flight southward were in jail here Monday night, captured near Howe, Ind., after a 75-mile chase.

They gave their names as Tom Martin and James Gallagher, and their addresses as Toledo, Ohio.

They had not confessed, but state troopers said the $4,000 taken from the bank was found on them.

Committee Finds Over Spending And Moves On

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 13, (AP)—The senate campaign funds committee Monday dug its inquisitorial pitchfork into the North Carolina senatorial primary, uncovered the spending of a few thousand dollars more than was previously reported in behalf of Josiah W. Bailey, Democratic nominee, and prepared to shift its scene of activity into Tennessee.

Be sure
when you buy sanitary pads
specify Kotex

No sanitary pad can give you the same wonderful absorbency, perfect fit and lasting softness.

TAKE no unnecessary chances in this important matter of sanitary protection — specify Kotex.

Kotex—first of all sanitary pads—remains best of all sanitary pads. Every month, every year, scientists add details to perfect its comfort, to give you the feeling of being well groomed, at ease; to offer you inconspicuous protection.

First, its amazing absorbency

The absorbent of which Kotex is made—Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding—is unique. It is five times more absorbent than surgical cotton, by actual test. Five times more lasting for that very reason.

Kotex is guaranteed to last longer, to stay soft longer than any other sanitary pad.

Hospitals use it

Do you know that 85% of our leading hospitals use Kotex absorbent today? Yes, they specify Kotex, they insist on Kotex absorbent in cases where the utmost safety and delicacy are necessary. Never is safety more vital, never is comfort more essential. Specify "Kotex." Accept nothing else.

Kotex Company, Chicago.

KOTEX IS SOFT...
1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
2—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.
3—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a special process.
4—Disposable, instantly, completely.
Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

The NEW KOTEX BELT
brings new ideals of sanitary comfort! Woven to fit, on an entirely new patented principle. Firm yet light; will not curl; perfect-fitting.
